Better Hurrv and contribute Molly MOM!

Lorri, I just checked the transferit website and S&H to my zip code would be a little over $11 for a $20 Molly mug. So, it is almost $32.00. Wendy is right. I was wrong and I apologize 😞

Chickadee...

I thought I read earlier that the deck had been taped. I Could be wrong. Just wondered if it had been fixed & why, because Carlos said it was suppose to be like a tree limb

Today, 20:38:55 – Flag – Like – Reply

Barb

I don't think there was anything to fix.

Suspected that tape was used to hold one end while Carlos screwed the other end to the box, he had no helper to hold the shelf while he put it up.

Today, 20:42:35 – Flag – Like – Reply

I thought he couldn't reach far enough to screw in both sides, and didn't want to disturb the owls by moving the ladder and messing with it, but he knew this before he went up there and tested the contraption to make sure it could take owl action like a tree limb. But now it looks like something has been done to that far side.

This reminds me. I have four girls. Sometimes I go to the bathroom, lock the door, take a deep breath and relax. Only to pee. Probably more than you need to know. However, we all do it. And I will see there until a kid come to the door and need something completely unimportant or necessary. These guys at the door remind me of that. Even the dog meets me at the door or is in there. You can not do anything without being bothered.

Last weekend, our family saw a barn owl at a birds of prey show. We were surprised at how quiet the hissing/screeching sound was.

Also, for those of you with younger children, there's a wonderful book my children loved when they were small. Owl Babies by Martin Waddell. Simple but touching storyline and super illustrations. Speaking of books, don't forget to order your copy of Molly the Owl. We're ordering two, one for ourselves and one for the local library.

Four little owlets nesting in a box

In the deep dark night their cradle gently rocks.

Wesley, Austin, Pattison,

Max is in the lead

with momma Mol and dad McGee tending every need.

They've won our hearts

They've stole our days

And made us make up rhymes

But none of us would ever trade

A moment of these times.

We hope they stick around a bit

To keep us up at night

But when it's time to say goodbye

We'll wish them all "good flight."

Cheesy rhyming stuff! 😊

I saw the best minds on the internet obsessed by owlets, intrigued long into the night, dragging themselves through dark hallways to their computers at dawn, looking for an early fix; dedicated owlsters longing for one more flight of McGee, that feathery dynamo in the machinery of night.

Skeleton Treasures flung into the corner - no one's safe in the animal soup of the owlbox.

Owly, Owly, Owly! Every owl's an ange!

Eating and crunching up prey,
There's Max, Pattison, Austin and Wesley,
Capturing our hearts all night and day.
And then there's Molly and McGee,

Never stop caring, never stop loving,
Those four tiny, fuzzy owls.

Someone said earlier today they wanted a SONNET.
I suppose I should say "With apologies to William (don't call me Bill) Shakespeare!

A GIFT SO RARE

Oh look! For here we have the fearsome pari
Known well to us as Molly and McGee.
They gave us all a gift so very rare:
The chance to watch owls living wild and free.

Their saga started earlier this year
When mated hearts were touched by Nature's Hand.
They chose a home so comfy and so dear
On Carlos' camera laden owlbox stand.

McGee brought food while Molly calmly stayed
As millions watched the precious little batch;
Upon soft down and rabbit fur she laid.
Oh when, we asked, will these eggs ever hatch?

We won't believe that this could be our folly:
This passion for the family of Molly!

Posting this a tad early. Once the ruckus really begins, I like to watch.

Hush little owlets,
Don't make a peep,
Mama's gonna' bring you,
Sumpin' big to eat.

And if that sumpin' big don't last,
Mama's gonn'a bring you a fat, fat rat.

And if that fat, fat rat goes down,
Mama's gonna' bring you another round,

And if that 'nother round won't do,
Mama's gonna' make you some possum stew,

And if that possum stew turns brown,
You'll still be the sweetest little owlets in town.

Okay, go up to the right corner and diminish this page (just make it smaller). Then take your curser and take it to the right or left at the edge, and it will turn into one line with two arrows. Hold down your mouse, and you can make the page skinny. Then go to your start button and open up another Molly page and do the same to it, and you can have the camera on one side, and scroll on the other. I guess I could have just said open up another page, but if you are as computer illiterate as me, then you will need more instructions.

 As they nap so deeply,
 Oh how it would be so fun,
 To rest with them until the day is done,
 And stay up all night,
 Then sleep again at morning's light.

Interesting Fact: (channeling HF again) the chat stream here pauses for as long as your mouse/cursor/pointer stays within the white comment area beneath the word "Echo". Moving your mouse outside that area temporarily (to the side or up above) will open the flow of comments coming into the stream.

Sometimes, when you are commenting below or simply reading for a long period of time, many, many messages can build up in the queue. This is what causes your screen to "freeze" temporarily while all the new messages load.

Handy tip of the day brought to you by the letter 'M' - for move your mouse! 😊

(You can watch the words "Live" and "Paused" alternate while you practice this.)
