Lani...Dear one...my thoughts and prayers are with you Hon! Don't ever give up hope! I know there are Angels watching over us animal lovers and their furkids. Hang in there and please let us know what is going on.

I'm going to ask questions you have probably already done but here goes. Was he microchipped? Collar with tag? Have you checked all of the veterinarians, police animal shelter, animal rescues within 50 + miles (after 20 years volunteering in animal shelters, its amazing how far these animals go), did you place a lost add in your local paper or hang signs around town? I get post cards once and awhile from search groups looking for a lost animal in the neighborhood (not sure where you live but that's an option too). He looks absolutely gorgeous (Siamese, Burmese?) I hope you find him soon. My prayers are with you.

Thanks Britt - yes to almost all including craigslist - not 50 miles and vets have been notified twice. I am feeling he may be in someone elses house - he is indoor/ outdoor but totally loyal to us so did not just take off. He is the most intellegent and loving cat I have ever been with. Thank you for your support and wisdom - seal point siamese

Hoping that little bird sitting on the owl box perch does not decide to venture into the owl box. He will be in for a big surprise if he does! 😊

I wonder if it knows there are owls in there??? I saw a video that showed a hummingbird visiting a mama owl and her owlets...they all just stared at each other and then it left...

LOL. People were thinking that was a bird yesterday, too. And it DOES look like a bird at first glance.

After staring at it again and looking at other captured photos of the frontal view of the owl box, I don't think this is a bird either and was just getting ready to post. Now I am 😊 !! Thanks Bill for the confirmation. Now I know I am going crazy... 😊

There appears to be a fair amount of us gathered here right now. Would anyone like to pass the time doing an acrostic of their names or the owls' names to describe this experience? I'll go first:

M–meaningful

E–enjoyable

R–riveting

R–revealing

I–insouciant

T–togetherness
