Live Barn Owl Nest Box Cam - San Marcos, CA

This is a live feed of a wild female barn owl named Molly. The owl box is located 15 feet off the ground. The male(McGee) has a white chest and face. He usually shows up after dark but has spent an entire day with the female. For more information about this camera click here.

greetings fellow MODs. i was here with y'owl for the first clutch and have kept this as one of my home pages since. i usually don't even sign on... just see (and hope) that m&m are back and, as time permits at work, lurk every now and then. was reading the texts below and found out that the wonderful owlbomble snowman is no longer with us. i probably spelled that wrong, but wanted to let y'owl know. i remember him and will always think of him as a big part of my forever MOD experience. godspeed snowman, you are still with us...

Hi Cheryl...yes, this is her last full day. We might go on a boat ride today. We haven't gone out for ice cream, at least not yet...but we've had ice cream sandwiches here. We've been pretty busy...went to a musical, a local summer festival with bands and yummy food, watched movies, went swimming...so at least we've done some things on our list! We'll try to cross off a couple more today...it's hard to fit everything in because she also wants to spend time with my brother and my parents too, of course.

I know...some people just don't understand. My sister does but she doesn't have internet in her home.

I guess McGee wants to become more European, the barn owls in the UK, and the Mid-East fly out during the day. The barn owl that plays with the cat in Spain is flying all the time during the day. It seems we may not know everything there is to know about owls, not NOB, but McGee is going to teach us.

Good evening folks. Molly land, i.e. San Marcos is north of San Diego. I live east of San Diego. So from personal experience of todays weather, I can identify with McGee. He was going to spend the day in the box. Molly was out in the tree at the neighbors. And she was right. Perfect day to spend in a palm tree and catch the breezes. So all is fine. I am offering this because I saw your posts asking about McGee. Hope that helps.

This is a mystery and although it can be upsetting, try to remember that owls are very near the top of the food chain and very resilient. Barn owls are crepuscular, not nocturnal, so it's not unheard of for them to fly during the day.

What Kate said. I used to ride horses down a wash, here in Arizona. It had steep sides, where the water over generations had cut away the banks. Barn owls nested there, and I was VERY often accompanied on my rides by curious juveniles (and, occasionally, adults), as I rode that stretch. This was in broad daylight, so I can attest to Kate's statement.

I have a pair of barn owls that we follow a few miles from home. I've met with the DNR when they wanted to try to band the pair. They easily flushed the owls out of the nest during the day with nearly no real intrusion whatsoever. Since then, I have accidentally flushed them from other sites not realizing they could possibly be roosting there. They fly to the nearest safe spot and stay there until nightfall. Likely something spooked McGee, and he's in the palm tree without a care in the world! HTH!

Hello everyone, hope you are well! So sorry to hear about James. I'm usually a lurker, but am confused at the moment and want to hear what your opinions. This morning I watched McGee come in, and he didn't leave. I recently went back to work and today I've had to do a bunch of things to catch up on the computer to get ready for the upcoming week, and for the most part have been here all day. While writing I saw McGee do all the normal things.... preen, scratch, look outside and sleep. Don't remember exactly what time, but this afternoon the cam went offline for a bit and when it came back up - no McGee. Did something happen that he left in the middle of the day? Was there a video loop and I never realized it? Hmm. Thanks for your insights. 😊 love, kate Looks like a lazy hazy day in Ye Olde Owl Box. Kind of an interesting turquoise cast to the video as I type. 😞 Mox on the box, at the moment.

I agree, Ruthie...hard to relieve my focus on the loss of James. I'm glad you posted your poem to the condolence guestbook [<http://bit.ly/pEXKMU>]. I am sure his family and friends will be gratified to see it, along with the many loving remembrances building there.

I envy the groups getting together...some day...!

Have a lovely Sunday evening, All! 😊 --Ellie

Hi Owl fans,

If you are in So. Calif, we are having our monthly lunch at the Elephant Bar in San Marcos. Most of us start arriving around 10:30 so we can be ready when they open at 11 am. Third Saturday so this month it will be August 20th. All owl fans are invited and it does not matter which owl box you follow.

I wasn't here for Molly's first clutch, when you all initially met James. I learned so much from all you MODS, never realizing the source was James. I just thought you all were super-smart at picture capturing and computer problems. Now I know where you all got it from. I wrote this for James.....

greetings from Wisconsin 72 and nice outside. Hoping everyone is having a good Sunday. I have a hummingbird feeder on kitchen window and one just a ways out on a hook. Been busy comings and goings. Now one male has decided he is in charge of who can feed and who can't. He sits on the hook and watches for others to come to either feeder. Chases them away but lets some feed. Kind of fun to watch.

I wonder what time that awful fog rolls in....maybe that's the reason they don't get back... they can't find their way thru it...not a good idea to be flying around in that either.. can't see what you might collide with.. maybe there's needs to be some fog lights on top of the box so they could find their way home.. like those beacons they have on the lighthouses.. wouldn't the neighbors be so happy about that.... 😊

hi lynn hope you feel better after some sleep.children do have ways of causing so much stress,i dont actually think they are aware of what they put us through sometimes.mine are 27/25 now but we still have moments.is it cold swimming in a lake? i have never done that,in fact i have not swum anywhere in 25years.i never knew that ginger ale was good for stomachs.i had lots of stressful times with teenage daughter she is now a really good mum to her 3 boys.our son was never a problem,maybe because he saw what she was doing to me,i did tell him one time dont you ever do this to me,i think being a parent is one of lifes biggest challenges,at the end of the day you can only do what you feel is right at that moment. i try to work on the princple that getting stressed never solves anything.thinking of you am off to the garden 😊😊

Hi Diane,

I am the one that has put together an email list of owl fans mainly in the San Diego area, but we have people in temecula, orange county, even Palm Dessert. Next meetup is our regular MOD Lunch on the 3rd Saturday of the month at the Elephant Bar in San Marcos. We start arriving around 10:30 so we are ready when they open at 11 Owl fans from all owl boxes are welcome

Make me happy

Make me feel fine

Tiny bubbles

Make me warm all over

With a feeling that I'm gonna

Love you 'til the end of time

So here's to the golden moon

And here's to the silver sea

And mostly here's a toast

To you and me

 If Molly and McGee flipped a coin for who got the box today, I wonder if Molly is thinking that she really lost? Dagnabit McGee, Carlos was playing this strange music, and I couldn't get my beauty sleep! You can sleep thru anything. You should have stayed.

My personal theory is that they are staying in the box to make sure Carlos does not staple up the SIGN again - you remember - Owl Box For Rent.

Here's my Hawaii story for you. When I went to a luau, we were bused there and back. There was a bus "host." On the way back, the host figured that everyone had to go to the facility. So he started singing Tiny Bladder to the tune of Tiny Bubbles. He had verses and everything. So now when my students have to go a lot, I sing Tiny Bladder to them. Unfortunately, I can only remember the Tiny Bladder part. They already know I'm crazy, so they just shake their heads. Anyone else need to join in singing? Tiny Bladder

Cheryl, I don't have room for anything either but it doesn't stop me because I can't resist a bargain. I have so much fun going to the sales because I get to meet people and chat for awhile, I so use it as an excuse to be social. I go to the flea market every week and stop and talk to vendors who I have 'known' for years and then I chat with new ones every week. I remember taking my sister-in-law to a flea market one day and about half way through she asked "do you know everyone here"? She told me I was just like my Dad and would talk to anyone; how right she was. I'll take a list from my kids if they are looking for something, so there's another excuse I use with DH. He doesn't get up in the morning because he is up half the night playing on-line games with all those "gamers", so sometimes I'm even home before he wakes up. Have a great day and I'll let you know if

I find any treasures. 😊 barb

Teatime, I lived in Yardley Hunt for 20+ years on Winthrop Drive, now my son lives there. We built our home in New Hope (Solebury) about 10 years ago but I'm in Yardley every Thursday morning for breakfast at Mil-Lees on Main Street and come down every Saturday for the garage sales. I still do most of my shopping down and around Route 1, so that may be two more trips through Yardley to get there. With gas prices as high as they are maybe I shouldn't have moved. 😊 Hit all the sales in the Yardley/Lower Makefield area this morning, some good buys but no real treasures. May come down to the Estate Sale on Gloria tomorrow and make them an offer on something I saw there.

Hello...my sister is in town for a few days...I had a little break from the sadness because we went to a musical at the local community theater (Chicago). It was really good and I loved the jazzy music. It was great to "escape" for a while. I'm pretty tired now...I'll lurk a little longer and then go to bed. Good night, sweet owl friends.

I followed the birth of Molly's owl babies last year, watched them grow and eventually find the legs and power to fly away and begin their own bird lives. Watched them every night for months but haven't looked at the site in a long time. Have been watching Roy and Dale and just read a about JH. I remembered his name immediately and felt very sad. Recalled his intelligence, wisdom, humor and aliveness. Life is precious. Someone below printed a picture/painting of him with an owl (?Molly) on his shoulder. It was beautiful, Thankyou for that. Thank you JH for sharing yourself with us last year.

Oh, my. Such an unexpected death, of one so vital. I know everyone is reeling. James will be much missed. I'm sitting here, trying to think of something else to say. I will miss him.

It's probably already been posted, but he has a beautiful Flickr photostream: http://www.flickr.com/photos/james_michael_hill/ .

He recorded so much beauty, and had such an incisive wit and intelligence, along with a dry sense of humor. And, so young. Hard, very hard.

A little musing ... You know we never know what anyone else is going through, do we? Cyberspace is great as we can see all these wonderful webcams and talk to people across the world, but I think in a sense it adds to our alienation from others. Boy it's easy to just stay in and just click and just get what we need these days. You almost wouldn't need to leave the house, would you? This wonderful technology leads to isolation. Isolation is so very painful. In today's society it is not "acceptable" to admit that type of anguish ... at least in the area where I live. It's easier to laugh and make light and go on and hope things will be better tomorrow. In no way, am I saying that this is what has happened with our dear friend. Please DON'T think I am. It just got me thinking ... (more)

We can say our thoughts are with you, hugs, etc., but ultimately the isolation is still there. Is technology a gift or is it just allowing people to lose the human touch? We don't know the problems that are going on with each other - not the real ones, not the innermost ones. If we were there face-to-face or even writing letters to each other - if our society still encouraged that - would things be different? I know ... very deep for a Friday night!!! I learned a lot from this site. I learned a lot from the interactions here. Allow me to horribly misquote Tennyson(?) "I am a part of all that I meet." - not a direct quote whatsoever. Boy if that isn't true. Learned a lot from you Snowman. Perhaps you are still teaching us more now ... And I'm sure you are CRINGING at the attention being paid to all this, but hey, what are you going to do?

Well that happened faster than I thought. Please feel free to re-post this or share it later in the day or with anyone who might be interested.

Donations to the Carolina Raptor Center in memory of James Hill (by Mollie)

The CRC philanthropy coordinator says we don't need a self-contained fund, just donations with the note that they are in memory of James Hill. You can send a check to the address below or donate through their PayPal page. Be sure to note that the donation is in memory of James Hill.

She told me that if they collect $150, they can release an owl in James' memory. When I described where he lived, she said that's perfect owl territory (we all knew that) and they could release it there.

The CRC will thank us individually and then after about a month will send a note to his parents saying that X amount of money was donated in James's name and it will allow them to do whatever (hopefully an owl release!) with it. They will list us all by name and address but will not say the amount that we each donated.

FYI - Mollie & Eve are working on a way to make donations to a raptor center in memory of James Hill and there is discussion about that on SPO-MOD Sport Group & Coffee House and Owl Friends on facebook. For those not on facebook, I will post the final information here once it is determined. It might not be until next week with the weekend coming so fast now. Mollie has spoken to his parents and they're going to have a memorial service for James at 11:00 on Monday at Mebane United Methodist Church.

For those who might be interested, there are a number of places on the wiki one can go to see or read some of James's contributions. I will list a few here:

Chat Stream PDFs - You could pick any day in the first clutch and read comments by many of us long timers including James.

For all of you in the Midwest suffering from this extreme heat wave, hope you can relate and or find some humor in this post I received today from a friend. It is hot where I am, but nothing like what you are going through. I am thinking of you all and sending up prayers for relief from the heat.

Janice, that is so funny.....

I would like to send it to my friend in Texas but am afraid she will decide to come up here and either move into my house or kill me. PA would seem like a cool day for her as we haven't gone over 101 degrees yet this year. But then it is August.....

Feathery-Cheryl & I are meeting for lunch tomorrow, Sat. 8/6, at the Souplantation in Temecula, CA. I plan to get there sometime between 11-11:30 & wait out front on the bench. Any other MODs in the area are welcome to join us. If you let us know here, then we'll know to look out for you.

A few others, like Toni & John, wanted to come, but we picked the wrong day for them. We'll probably do this again, with more advance notice.

Looks like Molly & McGee are taking turns protecting their rights to the owl box! Molly should be having a nice day out at the breezy Palmz!

Been oh so busy already this morning,,but can't seem to see what I've done 😞 I'm meeting Diane tomorrow for a Mini-Mod Meet-Up..and am excited to meet another owl box admirer . Did anyone know that James was ill? I am in shock. it goes to show that each day is precious with our loved ones, friends and just people we meet along the way.. He contributed so much to all of us in the Owl Box Wow,, my deepest sympathies for his loved ones that are left behind.. .
