Barn Owls - Mel & Sydney

Mel & Sydney - Oceanside, California

Mel (male) & Sydney (female), are a mating pair of barn owls located in Oceanside, California. The owl box owner is originally from Melbourne, Australia. The box was set up in mid November and the owls could be seen in the box just two weeks later. This owl box is 16ft above the ground in the owners back yard which is near acres of open wilderness. This provides for plenty of hunting grounds for the owls.

Incubation is 30-34 days from the date each egg is laid. Unlike chickens, Barn Owls begin to incubate immediately after the 1st egg is laid. Each egg will hatch on a different day. All time is in PST(Pacific Standard Time). More information about this camera can be found at Mel & Sydney's Daily Blog.

Pia, your pictures are very beautiful. You may not think they are the quality of James, but I think he would be very happy and honored that you took the pictures with love, just like he did. I hope that makes sense. In his passing, it made you want to go out and capture special images to last a long time too 😊

Sandy, I barely remember him. I was here for the 2nd clutch but it was all so overwhelming that I just remember the JH avatar and his reminder not to keep the cursor in the white area as it blocks the flow of posting. His picture I posted is haunting to me. He looks like such a kind man.

Sandy BC James had computer and other technological skills which he shared generously with those of us who were computer challenged. He studied the way of the owls and shared his knowledge with us. He chastised us not to anthropomorphize the owls, stop being worry worts. But most of all (at least to me) he was a kick in the butt funny. He brought such a gift of laughter. When we got going with our playtime, he was a quick witted, sharp tongued fellow who had us ROFLMAO big time. We kidded him back and he allowed us to poke fun at him with good humor. I remember one time I told him I may suffer from multiple personality disorder and he replied "more like multiple species disorder" (I think because I was often posting as URANG, a mischievous orangutan). I LOVED JAMES. I missed him so much when he left the MOLLY BOX and cried when I heard he had died. I'll always have a special place in my heart for that special man. Love, Lady Kathleen

"TO LOOK AT ANYTHING

To look at anything,
If you would know that thing,
You must look at it long;
To look at this green and say
'I have seen spring in these woods!' will not do-you must Be the thing you see,
You must be the dark snakes of stems
And ferny plumes of leaves,
You must enter in"

Good morning, just stopping by real quick to say hi. I'm off to town after I shower and have some breakfast. HOpe to get the doctor to write my excuse while I am there instead of having to go all the way back later in the day or week to get it so I can send it in and get rid of that jury summons. Will also stop at the Salvation Army to drop off tow big bags of cloths and a box of just stuff. May you all have a wonderful day and I will check back in tomorrow morning.

Oh, Tiger! It's like a fairy tale setting! When I read your earlier post, I felt like I was in a great geography class. Those far-away places are just something we dream about but don't think we'll ever see.

Yes, actually twice. Once in 1981 with a girlfriend. We backpacked and stayed in hostels and with relatives too. Denmark too. Then in 1998, I went with my DH and DD (who was 4 1/2 years old) and we did much the same. I will always remember my DD skipping in front of us. I had a one word command to her though. If I said "hand" she had to run to me and put her hand in my hand in places of danger like train stations, street traffic, crowds etc. We had a ball. My DH has promised me that we will return someday. I just hope I am not too old. 😊

Morning....Coal is a little chipped off at me. He had already gone back under my bed for his morning nap and I came into the room making noise with the vacuum. He went running off. Now he's found another spot to resume his slumber. I will take advantage of his being gone and run the carpet shampooer over my rug now. bbl

Good Monday morning: The photo is a trampoline thrown into power lines night before last in Lincoln, Ne., same storm swept through my area about 1/2 hr before. We had some branches down, but no power outages that I know of. Lincoln had 14,000 without power. I remember answering the phones at Nebraska Public Power years ago, it was no fun hearing the hardships people faced. The rain last night came down steady without all the wind...we are still under the gun for more. Goodbye summer, m,y DD is in her classroom today and rest of week with school starting Aug 15th. Won't see much of them then. I hope your Monday is starting well....must go start my coffee, much needed today!

Good morning....from Long Beach, WA. Cloudy here... and can hear and see the ocean.... and crows. : / I haven't taken but a few pictures so far. Something is going on with my camera. If I leave my battery in my camera... it drains it before I have a chance to take a picture. I think I wore it out.... haha. I think it's a self healer.... so will just remove that battery... when I am not shooting. I think it has done it before.

I want to sincerely THANK everyone for all the Birthday Messages... never had so many. Between here and FB.... I could hardly leave home. I am glad that I waited... because I didn't have any internet.... other than my cell, after I left. It would not have been such a good day without all of your BD wishes..... it's truly been a GIFT to have met ALL of you!!! 😊

I wonder what her reason is for the swim.Must be a fund raiser or something.

Good luck and safe swimming to her.

 Hello...how's everyone tonight? My sister and I went down to a local festival to listen to a band...they played lots of 80s music, some 70s and a few more current. They were pretty good and it was fun. Beautiful summer evening...nice breeze.

Got an invitation from my cousin for her daughter's Sweet 16. I can't believe what kids do now - it's like a Coming Out party - wonder if this is what they do all over now. She's booked it at a really nice place that has wedding receptions - having 100 people - 80 kids and 20 family - I think I better bring ear plugs that night. These parties have themes. She has black semi formal attire written on the invitations (which were leopard) - she (the daughter) wants everyone to wear black - she's wearing a leopard print dress/gown that was $500 - I wish I could take a picture of it - it's on the web - but you can't copy it - I had to go to the site to look. I had someone on line make a photo album covered in leopard material and then embroidered name with Sweet 16 and the date on it. She's having disposable cameras with leopard print on them. Then a candle ceremony - where she'll have 16 candles lit and will give a lighted candle to 16 people who are closest to her in her life - a DJ giving out all kinds of stuff and more! I was happy going to a movie or bowling on my birthday! Times sure have changed.

Me, either. My birthday comes right after the holidays, so it was ignored, plus we were poor. No party ever when I was at home growing up. So I cannot relate to this stuff at all. I think at 16 the parents should be saying, okay, now go get a part time job so you can earn enough to buy your own car and pay for insurance and gasoline and maintenance. That what we did!

They had a program on that on TLC. We don't so that here, but some folks apparently do that. amazing! Even if you can afford it why would you do that? How will they manage to make their wedding compete with that?

Our DD had parties for amny of her birthdays but then she could not decide on what to do for her 16th so it never got planned. Then she said we never gave her one!! LOL. We would have had one with a reasonable size group but needed to know what type - a girls sleepover, a dinner out, a movie, laser tag, whatever. Of course she did have a family party and we gave her some really good stuff for that special one.

The temps outside here are close to 100 and very humid, The house is still at 80 and we've been home for about 5 hrs now trying to get it cooled back down!!!!

Its a computer game. My friend has an iPad and showed us the game. I found it on line for lap tops too. It's crazy...use a sling shot to shoot birds to destroy pigs hiding in shelters. Nuts but addicting and the sound effects are hysterical.

 Hi everyone...Just wanted to let you know I'm home...& it is lonlier here, seems emptier in the house. But giving & getting lots of kitty love from Siam's brother, Ming. Pursja is still hiding.
 Thank you Francie & Becky...& Cathy, nothing you say to Max is silly. You should hear how I talk to my baby furkids. It is such a hard thing when they become frail or ill. Siam had medical problems for 2 years & just kept getting more frail. I will be sending you & Max loving thoughts.
 Won't be staying on here tonight but I will see you all tomorrow. I love you. & Francie, you are right. We all need a hug & warm thoughts from our friends here at some time.

 Hi Pursja, glad you made it home safely and I'll bet your sweetie and kitties were so happy to see their Mom. So glad that Siam's brother Ming is so happy to see you too, I'm sure in time Pursja will come out and make up to you too, they probably are missing their sister alot even tho she's been sick and failing for awhile, probably wondering what happen to her. I've often wondered if and what animals do think when one of their offspring dies or a sibling or a mate. There goes that human element trying to emply that animals miss their family when one passes away. Well I think they do know, and they do miss the one thats gone, Hope you get a good nights rest now that you're back home. Take care Pursja, and hugs to you and yours. In time you'll know that its okay and that Siam is doing fine an with alot of other furkids we knew and loved and their all waiting to be reunited with us when our time to leave comes. Love and peace of mind be with you . 😊

Hiya Francie! Pursja has been heavy on my heart too. I'm having to give my little luv bug fluids and other meds and have to have a discussion with the vet when he calls tomorrow. I can't help but think of dear Pursja as I'm not sure how this will pan out. I talk to Max and ask him to be the tough little guys he's always been but tell him if he just can't it's ok. Hi Kathryn. I agree with Robin, I'm sure it's great. 😊 Have to admit I'm glad I don't have to do that anymore. I can't believe the chaos you're going through in your life and keeping your head above water, at least here at the owl box you are. Hi Owl fans,

If you are in So. Calif, we are having our monthly lunch at the Elephant Bar in San Marcos. Most of us start arriving around 10:30 so we can be ready when they open at 11 am. Third Saturday so this month it will be August 20th. All owl fans are invited and it does not matter which owl box you follow.

Lots of memories today! Seafair Hydro Sunday. Back in the day, in the 60's, the three major TV channels would show the Hydros all day, from about 9 AM to 7 PM. My Grandma De would come over, and my Mom would make fried chicken and corn on the cob. We would have one channel on the big TV, and one on a little portable TV. How great it would have been to have the TV's now, back then. We could have done a split screen! The first week of August was such a great memory of growing up. Even after I moved out of the house, I would still go back for Hydro Sunday, and spend it with my family. I have my chicken ready to fry, and fresh corn on the cob. Thanks for letting me share my memories on this day. 😊

 Hi Kasey. In Seattle we have a celebration the end of July and first week of August called Seafair. It ends in Hydro Sunday the first Sunday in August. The unlimited hydroplanes race on Lake Washington. It has been a tradition in Seattle since the early 50's.

BEX....we used to make small model hydros out of wood and paint them...maybe 10 inches long, create a race course on our lawn and race around running and pulling our boats on strings. The real trick was not to "flip" and be disqualified. Aggie

Aggie...Of course I remember the Slo Mo! It is the boat that started it all! My Dad made a model of it, and it sat on our TV for years! Remember the 'flying starts' from under the I-90 bridge?! Or the time Bill Muncy ran the Thriftway up onto the beach into a party?!

Ahhhh....Bill Muncy.....what a famous name in Seattle history. He was a hydro hero...won lots of races but ultimately lost his life to his sport which was far more dangerous back then.....they didn't have so many safety features as the boats do now. luv, Aggie

Good Sunday Morning everyone: Stormy evening, but it was quiet during the night. Since we have no owls, I've learned a lot here about taking care of pets, cooking, exploring...etc etc, and even slug control. There must be slimy slugs slurpping suds all over the U.S. from the emails I've received. I will spare you the photos, however...not a good thing before lunch! I've chosen a new route...coffee, they can't stand caffeine, until I can get a product ordered that I found that is safe for pets and any wildlife. Guaranteed to work and you just sprinkle. Now, if you are here Lynn, I've made a greek salad for lunch, I think it was your recipe...can't wait to eat it, it looks so good. Have a great day all of you owl watchers. Keep the faith!

Hi June! I love Greek salad! My Greek neighbor told me what to put in it. I'm still waiting for fresh tomatoes...don't like the ones in the grocery store.

We eat lots of salads...it's been so hot that I just can't eat big, heavy meals.

Good morning from me too! Looks like a nice day ahead after a nice cool morning. I finished the book The Help yesterday. I couldn't stop reading until I finished it. Made a late start for house work but I did get all done that was on my list eventually. Filled up two big bags of clothes that I will take to the Salvation Army tomorrow as I have to go to town to get my doctor to sign a note to get me out of jury duty in Los Angeles. Hope it is a good Sunday for all of you.

Hi Pat! When I worked, the plant was just a few blocks from the Hydro pits. The Blue Angels would use our milk silos for ground markers for their routine. It was so great when they practiced. We would go on the roof to watch! You could almost reach up and touch them! I retired 7 years ago, and that is the only thing I miss about work!

Great to watch them practice....we saw them or Thunderbirds, not sure which, practicing from a Cape Cod beach once in the summer. It was fun to sit on the beach and see a free show and no traffic. There are SOME perks when one works. But I'm sure retirement has more!! 😊

Hugs to you dear girl, just remember your sweet girl Siam is healthy again and doesn't want you to be sad, because she knows how much you loved her and what great love and care you gave her while she was with you. Well, I have not been paying much attention, just "liking" and lurking here and there. You guys are nuts though. 😊😊😂😎

I need to walk the dog and go to bed. We (all 3) rode bicycles 5 miles today, which isn't much compared to the 20 we used to do, but we haven't ridden in over 2-3 years first because of MIL living with us when she was ill and then due to DH's back problems. We decided to try it and it went pretty well. But I got to bed very late last night and have to get up at 7 am because I have to help in the nursery at church tomorrow. With all of that I need to go to bed.

So I'll BRB in a few.

Well my dear wonderful owl friends.
I'm going to have to go.
DH is clicking the lights here in my office so that means time for bed. It really is though, because I've taken my night time pills and one of those pills is a sleeping pill.
Anyway if I'm not making any sense that is why.
nite nite to all.
Sweet dreams. 😊

I think our storm has passed. Our winds did not hit 50 mph here...thank goodness! Lots of noise and lightening and rain. Not so much wind. Power flickered but did not go out. Kitties sat on me on the couch...but are already walking around alone so all is good. Funny when they are scared they follow me room to room, even bathroom!

Max looks like a football player right now, gave him his fluids and now he has big saggy arm pits, looks like he has shoulder pads on. He's actually dozing a little right now, but has needed to be very close all day so I obliged and my little purrman actually purred for me a little. He got a little cranky with this last fluid session so maybe that's a good thing.

Ah, we live on a private road, and there are only 7 houses out here. Most of what I walk my dog on is my driveway as it is very long. Plus, my dog once had a problem with making it through the night without having to walk so I would wait until just before I went to bed to walk her and we both got in that habit even though she doesn't have that problem any more. Plus, that is what we did when I was growing up with the dog we had then even though we lived in a more typical suburban area. Both are/were very safe.

An owl story came on our local news last night. A trucker was traveling down a road when he saw an owl fly in front of his truck. He pulled over and found a live owl in the grill of his truck. He called the authorities because the owl was lodged in the grill and couldn't get out. When the police showed up, they called a local animal rescue. Animal rescue arrived, removed the bird, had a vet check him out and found no broken bones. They then took it outside to see if he could fly. It took a little time but off he went. Thanks to the trucker, Police, Animal Rescue and the vet, another owl is flying free tonight. Thought I would share.

Hello to all. I am absolutely pooped. We drove 3.5 hours to Bama unloaded two cars in the horrid heat into a very small room, then drove 3.5 hours home. Wow, what a hard day!!! Guess what?, I will be doing the same thing next week with my youngest. I think I will be too tired to even get emotional about it leaving my baby at college. Tomorrow I might think differently. Too tired for the basement. I sure hope everything is better today.

What a long day you've had.

You'll be recovered just in time to do it next week end again then huh?

How did your Mom do on the trip?

Mom did very well. Our conversation truly helped during the long drive. Upon getting to college girl's tiny room Mom was a little too opinionated.

This wasn't really what we needed. The case of too many chiefs not enough indiana....anywho I suggested she rest for a bit across the hall in a sitting room. She did. There was a woman in there (her age) going through future sorority pledge rec letters. College Girl let her know not to bother her. We proceeded to keep arranging in CG's room. At one point went to check on Mom and you would have thought she and this stranger were long lost friend. Seems this womans husband had just had a scare with cancer. Fast forwardas we left the hugged each other good-bye.

The woman whispered to me she would be looking out for my baby. 😊 😊 😊

Hey Roni, quick check in. I was offered a job by one of my ex-managers where I am now. It looks intriguing but I needed to give her my expected salary range and resume by Monday. Yikes, very scary to go through at this time, what with the move and everything else going on in my life. I am not sure I'm up to a job change at this time... but would hate to pass up a good opportunity.

I say, always better to keep your options open. You never know. This may be an excellent move. And doing nothing will mean you will never know, or just regret doing nothing. Just because you update the resume and turn it in does not mean you will take the job. It should be fulfilling just to be wanted by another firm right now! I say Congratulations on that one!

The National Weather Service is warning of possible violent weather this evening, with storms packing winds that could reach 50 mph over much of Central Florida.

It has issued a weather advisory for Lake County, western Orange, western Osceola, western Seminole and the interior parts of Volusia County.

Be prepared for lots of lightning, heavy rain and gusty winds.

The storms could develop funnel clouds, the weather service warns.

Weather service radar at 7:30 p.m. showed a line of storms stretching from Marion County south into northern Osceola County.

Storms approaching again! So shutting down...when will it end? I hope soon. Not just for myself, but people everywhere are suffering this year. Maybe the fall will be glorious! A short note before I go, be sure to check ortho slug bait small print on the package. Had a clerk helping me, she said it wouldn't harm pets, until I read for her on the back "Fatal to dogs". My neighbor's dog visits my yard, even though she is supposed to be leashed. I wouldn't be able to stand it if anything happened to her! Nothing should be manufactured that is fatal to dogs! 🙄 Maybe I can come back later...love you guts

Hand pick, not messy (wear latex/vinyl gloves), & definately not harmful! I never use slug bait in my yard, I worry about the birds, chipmonks, squirrels...& beer is too gross for me...plus I don't drink it so don't buy it Someone once suggested putting down a board then in the mornings, pull it up & collect the slugs that will take refuge from the day underneath it. I have too thick of plants to do that.

HEllo Jean , How did your bread do? I seen down in the basement where you were making bread today! For future references putting bread dough in a hot car and speed up the rizing effect fairly quickly! We do this with our bread dough and it is amazingly fast.....Or if it is winter out you can place it on top of a running dryer or a heating pad! Cover bowl with a hot moist towl just put wax paper or saran wrap inbetween it.....

Hi Niteowl!! Saw this after I posted. I made cinnamon rolls. They were really good at Christmas time but we made really big ones. These are smaller and I might have overbaked them. 😞 I thought you were kidding about putting them in a hot car. I have never heard of doing that. Nor the dryer or heating pad. 😊 I'll remember those suggestions. I thought my dough looked pretty good this time. I haven't made a lot of bread in my life. We finally bought me a wooden bread board at Ikea last year and got to use it. So nice. Anyway thanks for the suggestions. I'll have to see how the people like them tomorrow. We have 45 of them unless my family eat more of them!!

I'm declaring it a ME day! This is my granddaughters birthday today she is 8yrs old. I can't believe it, seems like only yesterday that i was greeting her into this world. She is my love my only GD and i am so blessed to be her grandma! ITs so good to have something positive amidst all the sad news we've had the past 2days! 😊

I didn't know him, but he was truly loved by the posts I've read. And he had such potential. Truly sad. I wanted to wish Tigermo Happy Birthday. If this one posts twice I will leave it, must go take a nap now. Went shopping, and is it hot!

I just got through watching "The Belle of Amherst" about Emily Dickinson. Some of you may think I know all about her because I post her poetry. That's far from the case. Much of her poetry I don't understand. Julie Harris stars as Emily and does a monolog. It was sheer delight filled with much humor! It was on the streaming NetFlix.

"Eden is that old-fashioned house we dwell in every day Without suspecting our abode, until we drive away"

Good Morning, folks! It still is morning where I am (barely). I was up late last night here. Could not make myself get up and go to bed.

I heard from Latrippi. Remember her? 😊 She started the Wiki. Her work and life schedule is such that she has not been involved here for quite a while, but Mollie called her to tell her about James.

Anyway, she wondered if anything was being planned online for the time during the funeral at 11 am on Monday. I hadn't heard anything, but thought I would pass on the question and see what others thought.

NOR: I am trying to make homemade cinnamon rolls for church tomorrow and I always have trouble with getting the dough to rise. My yeast is a good date and it suggested to put the dough in a greased bowl in the microwave to rise. Not to microwave it but just to put it in there. My other bowl is in the cold oven. (making a double batch). Any suggestions or does it just take a long time? They also suggested to punch it down and rise again for lighter rolls. I know we have very good bakers out there - help!!! 😊 Thanks!!!

I think the dough needs warmth to rise? When I make bread, I put the oven on warm, and put the dough in the bowl on top. But then, I am not a baker either. 😊

Thanks Becky and Lady K and HI TO YOU BOTH!! I just punched them down and they look good. I would usually warm up my oven in the winter time, but I am using a plastic bowl. But since it punched down good, I will let it rise again and see what happens. Promise I will take pictures of these rolls when done. They will be good as it is the same recipe we used last Christmas and my DD loved them. Just going to make smaller rolls this time. 😊

When I used to make bread, we had a gas stove and the pilot light was sufficient to make it rise.

Jean, yeast dough can be made to rise a little quicker by putting the bowls in a cold oven and putting a pot/pan of boiling water on the lower shelf. This works.....!

Also if you have an oven that you can set the temperature in the lower range, you can set the oven for 85 degrees which is the recommended temp for proofing yeast doughs. I hope that helps a little. barb

'Morning Becky. I have a question. I don't belong to FB but I think I used to be able to visit the SPO-MOD page. I can't now. Have they tightened things up or has the FB page been changed? Or something else?

Hi Sue. I don't think so. You would have to ask Chris. Try this link...

Sue, you have to belong to facebook to see it. I think that was always the situation. You don't have to belong to the group, but to facebook as a whole. IF you could see it before then they have made the changes, not me.

FYI, the story behind the picture of my dog on the ottoman 😊 : that has been her ottoman for 15 years, in the last 6 months she hasn't been able to jump on it, so I put her bed in front of it so she could at least lean on it. We've even talked about throwing it out since it doesn't even match anything. Last week I went to the pantry and passed the den and that is the picture I saw....I was so happy seeing her on that ottoman!!! 😊😊 So glad we didn't throw it out!!!

I just wanted to offer my condolences to everyone for losing your friend James. I didn't know him, but from what I've read and the photographs I've seen, he was a very special man who touched a lot of hearts. A very handsome man, too. I hope you find comfort with each other at this time. And remember, life is fragile, we never know when it will be taken away. Live each day with that thought in mine. Hugs to all. 😊

TO: Tigermo

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

The day of Unique Happenings Those born on August 6 have a lust for experience. They are particularly drawn to happenings of a very unique or extraordinary sort, perhaps once-in-a-lifetime occurrences, some of which seem impossible. Ordinary life does not hold a great fascination for those born on this day and quickly become bored with the mundane. (I think this is spot on for you!!)

Others born on this day, Alfred Lord Tennyson, Andy Warhol, Lucille Ball.

I hope you have a great day you'll always remember! 😊

We've all had a pretty rough last two days here, lets hope all the sadness is gone now for awhile and we can all take a deep breath and move on to happier days ahead here in the chat. Hope nothing bad happens here to any of us for awhile and we can continue to enjoy life and what ever it deceeds to toss our way. Its so nice we can all come here and comfort each other in times of joy as well as grief. Have a good day my friends and may the force be with all of us today and always. Love ya all!! 😊 😊

Good morning and a very happy birthday wishes to tiggermo. Hope you have a wonderful day.

Nice cool summer morning today here so far. I am trying to tear myself away from reading the book The Help so I can finally get some house work done around here today. Even though I had read it before it is still just as good the second time around. Can't wait to see the movie now.

I had JH on my mind all day yesterday as the news came as such a shock. Hope he has found the peace he was searching for.

Make it a good day everyone and spread some cheer to those that could use it.

Good morning from Iowa, cloudy, foggy, gray day, suppose to see the sun later , but going to be a very humid day. We did finally get some rain yesterday, but need alot more still. Was a nice gentle rain on and off all afternoon, we could use a few more of those to finally recover from all that heat in July. Seems like I just left here and I did around 3:30 this morning, couldn't sleep so came here to you my friends and our lovely owls. Happy Birthday Tig, wished you one earlier before going back to bed at 3:30 am this morning but, wishing you a super day birthday girl. 😊😊 Hope it turns out to be a nice day here for everyone and of course our dear owls. Going now to read and catch up in the basement. Lets hope we have a good day here and no more sadness, Cathycludesfan, if you here hope you got some rest in between caring for you dear furkid Max and hope with the new day he's better as well as you. Hugs all the way around here to each and everyone here in the chat.

I have to update my resume this weekend too from 2005, and I have to pack more. I'm a bit overwhelmed but I'm sure God has a reason for our struggles...Maybe he wants us to realize the struggles of the wild raptors we now have the privilege to view? Hello to all. I was just doing an evening check to see who was in the owlbox and now I have too many tears to go to bed with. Such sad news in the chatroom today. Pursja, I am so sorry about Siam. I wish she could have waited a couple more days but maybe she wanted to spare you some pain. It was great that Dick was there for her and with her at the end. Bless his swet heart. Glad you will be home soon to be with Ming and Pursja.

And such sad news about James Hill. The Snowman was such a great part of the chatroom in the old days. I was strickly a lurker then but always loved his insightful and reality based remarks. Ah, his photographs. What a legacy to leave.

From what Im' reading I see that our Pursja muat have lost her precious Siam today, So sorry that she couldn't be home to be with her Siam before he passed and took that final walk to the Rainbow bridge. Poor Sweetie I bet was very upset that she couldn't be home their with her friend and companion Siam. So sad , I'm so sorry Pursja for your loss. May you dear sweet furbaby rest in peace and now has joined so many of our furkids who have passed so recently. At least we can all rest assured that the great Siam is no longer in any pain. My heart and many Hugs to you Pursja, again I'm so sorry for your loss. 😞 😞

I better get to bed...I'm so tired and I need energy for whatever my sister wants to do tomorrow. She's staying at my parent's house tonight. Maybe we'll go swimming or boating if it doesn't rain.

Good night, sweet owl friends.

Hello...my sister left so I ran up here...I had a little break from the sadness tonight...we went to see the musical Chicago...it was just a local community theater, but they did a great job...the talent was pretty amazing...I really enjoyed the jazzy music.

Just up from the basement and I feel so bad for Pursja now...wow, what a day.

I spent a couple of hours at the vet with him this morning, he got really bad last night, thought I was going to have to say farewell to him, that's why Pursja has been on my mind all day. Had to get a friend to take us because I can't drive with the dizziness. I have to give him subcutaneous fluids again and hope he can pull out of it. Been kind of a wreck since last night and am feeling guilty now about saying anything. I have a tendency to withdraw when things are bad but didn't really want to be by myself so-to-speak.

Do you remember the line from the movie Ghost? "The love...you take it with you." I believe that line. And in that belief know that Siam will always have the love you gave her to comfort her...and that you will always have her love to comfort you.

Goodnight my friends. With such sorrow and heavy hearts in the chat today I must say my prayers tonight will include you all. My plans have changed for tomorrow, instead of sending my college girl on her way alone I am going to follow her in my car. As it turns out, she needs her Mom to help her. I think emotionally more than physically. I am more than willing to be there for her. If we haven't learned anything today, we have learned to consider time with our love ones priceless. With that in mind, I asked my Mom to make the trip with me. I am looking forward to time with her. I hope to check in with you tomorrow night. Take care.

My heart is heavy. Now reading Pursja's loss of her baby girl. James' passing hit me hard enough then read his obituary, where it was mentioned my two passions of my life recently, skydiving and Molly the owl. We exchanged private emails during the first clutch regarding our skydiving experiences, and we worked hand in hand with Chris from Oly, and Mollie, and all those folks to PDF the chats. I felt so good we had a great hand-off team to PDF, shrink, post! Awww.... I am just so, so, I don't know????

Egad, I just got back from looking at a few houses. All on the no list. One we looked at had a huge backyard, parking for RV and boat on the side which is what we need, tons of storage, a bonus room for all our books, but the landlord I guess got frustrated with the yard upkeep and had just finished laying 8 dump trucks full of bark chips in the front and back yard. Not a lick of grass to be seen! 😞 And the search continues... 😞

Hi all. I have been without internet and phone all day. I just got it back and heard about James. Even though we didn't get along some of the time, I am so saddened to hear of his passing. I can't stop the tears. I have a lot to catch up on.
 James Hill, may you RIP.

...last but not least, two small loaves of whole wheat "steakhouse" bread. Sort of a hearty & sweet wheat that called for honey, coco, coffee, and sugar. I added molasses and cracked flax seed just because I could. Besides, I like my bread to reflect who I am - a little sweet, a little dense, a little nutty, and somewhat crusty. No whitebread 'round here.

Donations to the Carolina Raptor Center in memory of James Hill (by Mollie)

The CRC philanthropy coordinator says we don't need a self-contained fund, just donations with the note that they are in memory of James Hill. You can send a check to the address below or donate through their PayPal page. Be sure to note that the donation is in memory of James Hill.

She told me that if they collect $150, they can release an owl in James' memory. When I described where he lived, she said that's perfect owl territory (we all knew that) and they could release it there.

The CRC will thank us individually and then after about a month will send a note to his parents saying that X amount of money was donated in James's name and it will allow them to do whatever (hopefully an owl release!) with it. They will list us all by name and address but will not say the amount that we each donated.

I really loved James. Boy did we have fun together. I once told him I perhaps suffered from multiple personalities and he replied "multiple species was more like it" because at that time I posted as URANG the organatan sometimes. He helped many of us with the tech stuff, shared his brilliant photos, wisdom and wisecracks. So, Sweet James, may your soul fly among the owls while a rain of tears fall below by those who remember you. Love, Lady K

MG, I have been wanting to tell you something for while now, and with James Hill's passing, maybe now would be a good time to do so.

I fully enjoy your lovely pictures and quotes, and the message you're trying to communicate with us all. You have made several about getting along with each other, and today may be an appropriate time to reflect on that. If you have some that, in essence, tell us how fragile life is, and how we need to be mindful of how we treat others, maybe you could post them. We each need to be forgiving and see the value of others and their contribution to our own lives.

Thank you MG, for all you do here. You are a peaceable lady, and I adore you! Your quotes have reined me in more than once.

I am going outside and do some yard work, and talk to my Heavenly Father about all of this. He truly understands.

YTQ! How sweet you are. I came back on here a few minutes ago and have been reading below about James passing. I saved the one photo that was posted, I think by Roni and when it enlarged, I was in awe. I didn't know James had a site to view his photographs and to be honest, I didn't know he did photography. I wasn't here for the first clutch of Molly & McGee and so missed James' postings. Now I wish I could read them. I'm going to see if I can find James' work. Rest in Peace, dear gentle friend of us all. James, you gave us many treasures because you shared your true self. I never knew you dear man but we are all one and so somehow connected even now. YTQ, I'll try to find some appropriate quotes. Thanks for your kind words.

Morning Glory, I posted above a link to the PDF's of the chats from the first clutch. You can go back and read some of the comments made by James and others who were here then. It was a lot of work producing those which is why we stopped after the first clutch. It is neat though that we have that record now.

Where is our sweet Becky, has anyone heard from her this morning? perhaps maybe Roni has, hope she's okay. Maybe she's gone looking for Mel and Sydney, wish they would come back home, maybe will see them in early winter intime for another clutch for them , sure hope so , miss them so much. Hope we hear from Becky soon hope nothing is wrong at her house this morning!

This was posted on James Hill's Facebook wall several days ago by his sister, Jennifer Hill Jones:

For those of you that knew James, you know what a heart of gold he had. WHY? will always be the question but will never know the answer. All I know is that he will be so terribly missed by his lil Sis. James, thanks for all the memories, thanks for always being there for me. YOU were the best big brother a girl could ask for, if only I could have done something to change this outcome.... I hope your mind is at ease now. RIP June 20,1969-August 1, 2011.  Good morning, oh my worrisome posts this morning . What happened with JH??? OMG. And pursja has a very sick kitty while she is away from home. Morning Glory I am sorry you are not feeling well and hope your sinus' clear up soon.
 Not a good news here today.
 I got a jury summons in the mail yesterday that is for the court in downtown Los Angers (70 plus miles away) They say I would have to be there at 8 am on Sept 9th. There is no way I can do that as I suffer from colitis and will have my doctor write a note for me. It upset me and of course that made my condition worse this morning. If I get arrested for not going I hope you guys will bail me out. lol

 Did you guys read Trystan's posting..... JH is no longer with us..... I loved to go to his site and look at the world through his lens... so much talent. My heart is saddened....

"R.I.P. JH. Maybe I understand more than most. I see that look behind your eyes in my mirror more than I like to admit. Kindred spirit. We seek understanding (escape?) from the madness of the world through the beauty of nature. Life through a lens. May your spirit run wild with the deer you photographed so amazingly, may your spirit soar through the heavens with the meteors. May we meet in serenity my friend".

Tigermo...people come into your life for a reason. Sometimes it is for a long time, sometimes just for a season. But if they come and share their gifts with you, you are meant to learn from them. I think JH brought many things to you to share. You are already such a talented lady, and using his photos to inspire additional works by you would be such a wonderful way to honor his gift.

No need to talk in the negative about JH what so ever!!!! 😞 Maybe those kind of comments would be better off left unposted right now. I am, for one, very saddened by his passing. I think most of who were here during Molly's first clutch can say that a lot of what they learned was from the knowledge and time that James spent trying to educate us all on the common barn owl. JH you will be missed 😞😞

Good morning! 😊 Not my biggest smile today. Felling rathy dragy because of sinus conditions. Have run out of the usual herbal stuff I take but it will come in the mail today or tomorrow. I dreamed I was walking down a stret and saw Roni. I spoke to her but she didn't hear. She met another MOD and they were both dressed well and I realized I was wearing pajamas. So I didn't call out to them but went ahead to vote! The bottoms were dark and the top white. No one seemed to notice. 😊 BBL! Luv and prayers for all.

Good morning to all who are here, looks a liittle light here so far this morning. Hope all of the sadness is gone and that we can all look at what happened yesterday at Roy and Dales is behind us, even though we don't and won't ever know for sure what happened to the two little ones Wyatt and Zee, Nature does what it wants and we don't always like or accept what it deals to us in the animal kingdom. All I can say may they both rest in peace, and our now in the company of the other owlets who didn't make it from all the previous clutches. The big owl upstairs is now watching over all of them. Hope you all have a good Friday and another good weekend. Keep happy thoughts in your hearts and a smile on your faces. 😊

Chris or anybody that might know this answer! Once the owlet dies what happens to its body, does the Mom eat it to dispose of it or does she take it out of the box???? 😊

4 days ago, 10:53:32 PM – Flag – Like – ReplyChris in Olympia, WA

Usually the owls in the box eat it. The notice on the blog indicates that at one point Wyatt had been disposed of that way, but Zee's body was still around. However, there were some comments later indicating that maybe Zee was then also disposed of. I missed that if that is what happened. As far as I can tell there are no extra bodies in that box now. Dale has not left, so that is the only way they could have gone.

Yes. Carlos turned off the cameras temporarily when that happened and folks were discussing today that many were mad at him for that. But there were also some folks getting very upset on the U-stream chat then because the first clutch had gone so well, so he was trying to be sensitive. The warnings about the graphic nature of nature (so to speak) often are not taken seriously until something like this happens. The MODs at U-stream all day today were posting that if people were having a hard time watching they might want to take a bit of a break and they did it in a very gentle way. It pays to know yourself well enough to know when to step back. I think we may lose a few from Dale & Roy's site based on their reactions today. I urged folks to take a break and then come back, but you never know. It is heartbreaking, but it is also very common and if you watch any of these webcams very long you will have to face it.

I agree with Carlos on that one.. nature or not..there are some things natural or not that in my opinion doesn't need to be seen. I haven't looked at R&D for a couple of days.

Good evening everyone.

What a sad day.

I just got home from work.

DH is making dinner so I will only be here a few minutes then come back.

Sorry to her about the two little owlets. How sad. Please know we will help you in any way. If nothing else just to talk and send you hugs. Lots and lots of hugs..

Trish,

Condolences to your DH's boss and his family. What an awful thing to have happen. And to loss their Mother this year too. That is just to hard it imagine.

Sorry to her about the two little owlets. How sad.

Oh oh, DH is calling me to dinner as I speak.

I'll be back in a few minutes.

Hugs..

Hi everyone - so much sadness all around today. Trish - so sorry to hear about your DH's boss - that MRSA is awful - how sad for the children to lose both parents in such a short time. Pursja - sorry to hear your furbaby isn't doing too well and what a let down to be going into an apartment and now not. Hope things pick up for you soon. Keeping all of you MOD's in my thoughts and prayers - so many need them now. Have to believe better days are coming.

Good evening peeps, Pursja am so sorry about your sick kitty and DH trying to keep things going for you, also not good new about your apt. Hope you can keep your chin up, I'm rooting for you and kitty...and DH. I did not know about Roy & Dale either, I have not been there too much, yesterday the tiny ones looked really lethargic but Belle was very active. I sure hope it wasn't poison. this is the heartbreaking part about watching the owls, we were so lucky with Mel & Syd and all 6 hatched & fledged...probably pretty rare. Hope you all have the best evening you can...love you Pursja!! 😊

Just home from work and hearing and reading such sad things happening here today. I knew one of the owlets at Roy and Dales had died in the night, but now I'm reading another one has died too. Oh how very sad and very depressing. They kept saying this morning that Zee had passed, and then they were saying it was Wyatt, did he pass away too? Someone please respond to my post so I know what has happened at Roy and Dale's, I'm begining to think that that owl box has a curse on it or something is going on there. So sad that Dale and Roy have lost two of their owlets , and not because they haven't provided for them and cared for them all very well. I just can't beleive we lost two of them , hope nothing else happens to the three that are left.. I also read about Pursja's troubles, thats too bad about the apartment and so sad about her poor sick kitty and that Dh is in such distress over her sick , very sick baby, hope she makes it home before he crosses over the rainbow bridge, and poor Sweety, he must just be very disturbed and anxious over the sick furbaby and wishing so much he could do something to help the sick kitty. He needs his Pursja home and so does the sick kitty. Sending hugs to her and Sweety and her sick kitty. They are all in my prayerrs, and hoping things get better for them soon. Need to check out more and see what else tragic things have happen here today, nothing more I hope. bbl.

cathy, we are all sharing hugs all around. 😊 while it is very sad, this is pretty common with owl clutches. It is actually the exception, rather than the rule, that all owlets survive to fledge. Molly & McGee's 2010 second clutch lost two, Owlivia's 2010 clutch lost tow, and I heard Bob and Brenda lost one, and there have been others as well. It is hard, but it is why the warning is posted on the U-Stream websites and in Becky's daily postings. Usually the remaining clutch goes on to do quite well.

Today does seem to have an abundance of distressing happenings, but we have been through days like this before on SPO and things do turn around. We are here for each other.

What phase is the moon in! Just so much nasty stuff going on today it seems. 2 owlets, Niteowls DHs boss, my Sweetie is completely emotionally overwhelmed with my very ill cat, my petsitter, bless her heart, is trying to help but making it worse for my DH, we got evicted from the apartment where I was hoping to stay while I am currently working in CO, & I haven't a clue why...I wasn't involved in arranging it.

I am so glad you all are here, what would I do without you. My DH is so upset & depressed, I can't even talk to him & I need to keep it together here while I am working & away from home.

Not been a good day.

I know, I know, this too shall pass...but sometimes it is just hard

Good afternoon: I am sorry to read about the loss of two owlets at Roy and Dale's. Nature is sometimes cruel, and we never know what will happen. DD Shelley is witness to the circle of life in her desert home, having roadrunners that come to her office daily, but sometimes she sees them catch a little bunny. All in the grand scheme of things, but heartbreaking sometimes for us. I sent Shelley a Nova video about dog intelligence you might like to see if you haven't already:

<http://video.pbs.org/video/1778564622> Features a border collie, I could watch again and again...so intelligent they are!

Dear mg....speaking of FaceBook, I read an article in today's Seattle Times that FaceBook is doing a face recognition of people's pictures in Facebook. "In a statement Tuesday, Caspar said that FaceBook had built an archive of more than 75 Billion photos, and 450 Million people have been tagged worldwide. If they are collecting data to build a digital archive of individual faces, then this is clearly a violation," Caspar said."" (Caspar is a regulator in Germany who is asking Facebook to disable its new photo-tagging software.) I don't quite know what to make of it. Love, Lady K

DEET DEET ME SWEET PEEPS....I'm hearing the Blue Angels practicing for SeaFair. There will be hydroplane races on Lake Washington with various air shows throughout. I hope the good weather holds for the multitudes who will attend...(not me).

I am sending positive and healing thoughts to all who need them, for themselves, their friends and family and critters too.

LOL! Glad you can hear the Blues! One thing I miss about living in Seattle! 😊 There is nothing like being there and to hear the thunder!

Purdy Becky...I'm kinda conflicted about the Blue Angels. I do love to see and "feel" them fly, but sometimes I wonder about the expense to the government, the scaring of the critters and showing off our POWER. It's just not black and white to me....lot's of grey. Love, Lady K

I spy Lady K! Hi there! Have you heard the Blue Angels yet? When I lived in Laurelhurst, I heard them sometimes when they went way north! And we are going to have good weather for Seafair! 😊

Question: If I look someone up on FaceBook, will they know I've been there?

MG. No according to College Girl. Thinking about it, I don't ever get notifications when someone looks me up. This causes me to agree with CG.

This is a good one too!

Good morning friends. I understand there is a problem over at Dale and Roy's. I am so sorry. Guess we will just have to wait and see what's happened. 😞

Was just talking to my Sweetie back home. My little girl Siam is not doing well & he is having a hard time coping. So I am having a hard time coping but I need to keep it together while working here. Just a hard time.

Hi Pursja. We're a fine pair you and I. You are worrying about your fur baby and after tomorrow I'll be worrying about my mom. We just can't win can we? I'll be thinking of you.

OH NO!! That's just terrible for you having to be separated. Too bad you couldn't take Siam with you. 😞 At least Siam is with your sweetie, someone familiar. I know that would drive me crazy, Pursja. Try to keep your mind occupied, easier said than done I know. My heart goes out to you and sending positive thoughts your way, and healing thoughts to Siam.
