My mother and grandmother used the expression. I tried looking it up with no luck but I did find: The Gardener's Hollow Leg is a fabric sack attached to a belt that is worn while you are working in the garden doing light pruning, dead-headin general weeding. It's handy for fruit and produce harvesting, too.

I've never been on here at this time before. some kids just broke into my husband's truck and our dog scared them away! I knew we'd appreciate bark someday! We went out with him, looking for the kids, and the police were cruising around. Now I'm wide awake so I'm watching the owls.

People have been talking at night about the wind.

The weather forecast (below) is pretty tame but the few times that I got a picture, the nest box was really shaking.

Ovenight: Patchy fog. Otherwise, cloudy, with a low around 65. South southeast wind around 10 mph.

Saturday: A chance of drizzle before 11am. Patchy fog before 11am. Otherwise, mostly cloudy, with a high near 68. East southeast wind 10 west southwest. Winds could gust as high as 25 mph.

 Max says:
 So, guys whaddya think, wanna go get a beer or something? Anyone got a fake ID?
 Pattison: Wesley has a fake ID
 Austin: Yeah, he was pretending to be Max tonight and get all the food, rats, rodents, pizza and beer...
 Max: Figures...

 I think it's Pattison. The one closest to us on the fledge ledge has a lot of fuzz still.

 someone must have been flying over head - did you see those two look? And yet they are looking straight ahead for their brother.

 That one on the roof reminds me of my nephews little girl when she first started walking.
 She would see something she wanted to get to, put her head down, start swinging her arm and then take off!!! LOL
