Live Barn Owl Nest Box Cam - San Marcos, CA

This is a live feed of a wild female barn owl named Molly. The owl box is located 15 feet off the ground. The male (McGee) has a white chest and face. He usually shows up after dark but has spent an entire day with the female. For more information about the owls and this cam. Click Here

Good morning everyone.
Woke up earlier than normal, thanks to Carlos and to falling asleep last night with the PC on and the volume up.
That was a little startling this morning, despite his nature.
Here are a few images I grabbed of the activity last night/this am.
The collages (except for Opposites) are in sequential order. First frame at the top left, moving clockwise, ending with the center photos.

And this
Composed by Storymom:
Take 1 large field, 4 adorable baby owls, several trees, a cool brook, a large quantity of field mice and a pinch of pebbles. Mix the owlets and trees together and stir frequently. Pour the brook over the pebbles. Sprinkle the field with flowers, various grasses and the field mice. Fill the trees with a gentle summer breeze. Spread over a deep blue sky and bake in the summer sun. When done, set away safely in a cozy owl box or tree stump. Wrap securely in awe and store in the hearts of everyone.

Glad you told me mike. Will reply with new post.

Lizuk, am in Essex, between Cambridge and Stansted Airport, but was born and brought up in Tunbridge Wells, the South Downs were a pain when cycling to Hasting or Brighton in my youth but a lovely area. Expect like Tun Wells it is a lot more densely populated than when I knew it.

Mike like you got back problems (worn spine) and blocked leg arteries which put an end to air travel or long journeys. New Zealand was always on my "wish list" but now adopt the attitude of "what you aint had you don't miss" or at least try to.

You can see the moon in the background move across the sky, but when you look at it with a telescope and you keep adjusting the scope to keep the moon in the field of vision-you realize that it's the earth that is moving and you can almost sense the earth move beneath your feet. Wonderful experience.

Well as my husband, little baby and I have all let these owls control our lives for a while now, we have to try to reclaim our sleep. Our older boys keep asking us to get it together and get up earlier in the mornings. We will try to resume our old schedule as much as possible. I'm still drawn in by these guys. It's 3:00 am in Minnesota and morning's inching in!

I don't remember if I've posted this before as the days and nights are bleeding together. Good night all!

Does anyone know why the smaller screen is not on air nowadays, or has this camera been used for the large picture now?

I used to like watching the owls flying into the nest box area and then quickly scrolling up to the larger picture.

Not complaining, just wondering, as I think Carlos has done a tremendous job in bringing us the best views.

I think he said that a computer that the camera was attached to, went on the fritz, and that he hopes he will get the computer back from a computer service today some time. Then he will put the camera back on line. BTW you live in a great country-I really enjoyed the U.K when I visited your area.

Thanks for the explanation.

I'd have liked to have travelled a bit further than Europe but for various reasons never got round to it. Ama bit too long in the tooth now to travel and see the world so find it quite interesting hearing about other countries. Was a bit jealous when I saw the lovely fruit that Carlos and Donna were growing in CA.

I've had so many questions asked about my big fish avatar, and I have a big fish story to go with it. And so many other people have stories about their avatars too here at SPO. Do you think it would be appropriate to start a page on the wiki about choosing your avatar for SPO? Some of the other stories here are so wonderful!!! Especially some of the "revolutions" of them, along with the names to go with them. LOL! (James??)

This might be some good nostalgia for all of here too. Let me know what youwiz think.

Hi Sandra. The salmon was caught in a tidal river coming from the Pacific Ocean so it's not a freshwater fish. We can only catch and keep one a day during Salmon season around here, but it took me five years to catch just that one!
