"sigh" It's so sad. There must be a better way. I have a hard time believing they take out enough livestock to justify extermination over compensation to ranchers. If I remember correctly, the biggest problem was that the reintroduced wolves did too well, bred heartily and healthily, and spread out to territory out of park bounds. I also remember reading or hearing they were pushing out or killing competing predators, and now park officials are worried about the fate of the mountain lion.

Hi Will,
I had a post with a website that explained that the program to shoot the Yellowstone wolves (after people worked really hard to reintroduce them) resulted in shooting the wolves that many people like me watched and loved in PBS and National Geographic specials. I guess the spam catcher ate it.

If interested in the hard cover version of the ebook (signed) or a Molly book mark, go to <http://www.ericblehm.com/>. Also shortly there will be a waiting list for the coffee table book of Carlos's photos!!
If interested in some of the material that Carlos shirt was made out of, Vacadude needs to hear about it. If he gets lots of interest he may produce more and make it available. Contact him at vacadude@atkinsonproductions.com

Hello, and thank you for your patience.
You can now pre-order your hardcover of Molly the Owl children's book at the Web site: www.mollytheowlbooks.com
Due to the volume of emails (thank you very much!), we have created a list of frequently asked questions and answers. You can view them on the site, and everything should be self-explanatory from there. You can order on PayPal using either your PayPal account or most major credit cards.
Please remember that all orders are PRE-payments for the book, which will be printed and delivered in October 2010, in time for the holidays.
We will be accepting pre-orders for this signed first edition for the next two weeks or so.
Kind thanks for your support,
Eric Blehm
Any further questions, please reply to erb@ericblehm.com.

I'd love to see a picture of Taunts. Any idea on how to get a message to Carlos to post a pic? In case anyone missed Carlos' update today, they Royal's have a rabbit who comes out during the day and hangs out around the owl box. At night he's back under a covered area. They affectionately named him "Taunts".

Lisa U Correct me if I'm wrong, but I believe it is the picture you put beside your sign-in name. You'll notice here that everyone has a picture of a dog, flower, bird, etc. They are being referred to as Avatars, as in the bodies used to house someone's spirit in the movie. Truly a must see if you have not seen it. Either get your butt to a theater to see it, or rent it when it comes out. It is absolutely amazing!!

Kathryn R

ms. dood flnk In Hinduism, Avatar or Avatāra (Devanagari अवतार, Sanskrit for "descent" [viz., from heaven to earth]) refers to a deliberate descent of a deity from heaven to earth, and is mostly translated into English as "incarnation", but more accurately as "appearance" or "manifestation".[1]

Carol D thanks Chickadee. I did hear Neil Patrick Harris and Katy Perry were playing in the movie. Don't see Danny Devito's name in there though. It should be really cute. My daughter loved the smurfs. when I was expecting her I did 2 latch hook rugs for her nursery. 1 was a round in shape, 1/2 moon with a smurf sitting on the edge. the 2nd rug was in the shape of smurfette. now my granddaughter who is 3 will get to see the movie. cant wait.

JH (In Technicolor Dreamcoat) There are actually about 9 different pages. Most are inactive or only have a few members. Molly Royal is the "official" page, run by Carlos. The rest are fan pages. Ours is a discussion group for members of this chat room, primarily, but others can join if they like. We have built quite a solid group of people with close ties here, so I wanted to provide a place for us to gather virtually without needing to feel awkward walking into another group that may be unfamiliar with all our antics here.

Kathryn R ms. dood flnk Owl Totem Chris in Olympia, WA

Latrippi Antics? ANTICS?! I see no antics here.

Karen Terrell Ballard ok now im confused big time! I thought Carlos set up the Molly & McGee Owl page if he did not then who did? I'm gonna take a chance here and upset a few maybe or maybe not intended if I do but if Stacy set up that page O BOY! not good at all

JH (In Technicolor Dreamcoat) There is another FB discussion group - Added to watching Molly the Owl

Karen Terrell Ballard ok I checked out the Molly Royal page and it was started by a female not a male i realize it could be donna, but i thought they were married and this one says "in a relationship" not married????are you sure that is the one Carlos started?

chickadee That's because Molly is "in a relationship" and not married. It's Molly's page, so she's female. And yes- that's the one run by the royals.

Karen Terrell Ballard ok thanks sorry ive been a pain and my brain isnt working tonight we had about 3 hrs of sleep in the last 36 so i really should go to bed but here i am watching an empty house! thanks ybw!

JH (In Technicolor Dreamcoat) I don't think Carlos set up either. I believe he simply gave his blessing to the Molly Royal page.

The other one I know he didn't set up (Molly & McGee Owl) because it links to this website - SPO - and not Carlos' website. They also have attracted the detractors who feel they MUST be heard, which by the way are also some regular Smurkers here. see below.

Karen Terrell Ballard ok so then im going to unlink that page and join Molly Royal page and the SPOMOD page dang where have I been!

Probably so. With all the structures there to perch on, I wouldn't be surprised if at least a couple of them continue to "visit" the yard and the owl box every night for quite some time. Barn owls are known to be gregarious, not territorial, so they often live within close proximity to one another.

If that was bonding, then mating didn't occur. The video says bonding. I'm not sure how, ahem, one would know for sure. 😊
Today, 21:21:57 - Flag - Like - Reply

Jan (Bayonne, NJ)

Sure looked like mating to me, Robin. But he didn't even bring her a treat - that's not nice!
Today, 21:23:55 - Flag - Like - Reply

Robin

Yep, but on the Moly FAQ it says,

"So, is the bonding actual mating?"
Bonding isn't mating. It doesn't fertilize eggs. It's a behavior that, like hugging or kissing, makes them "feel" bonded to each other and more likely to raise a successful dutch."

It looks like it, though, but isn't. Again, as I said above, I'm not sure how one knows when they are doing which. 😊
Today, 21:25:59 - Flag - Like - Reply

But mating and bonding look the same. I'm thinking the only difference is no procreation is taking place. Or maybe it's like dogs humping for dominance. But that doesn't seem right since they are paired mates.

I think she was just calling McGee for a quick snuggle, cuddle, bonding, and she was flat out bored sitting on the eggs all day. They both seemed to enjoy themselves and this was not like the violent mating I've seen with other species. Owls bond for life. If one dies, the other often stops eating and dies soon after (or so I've read). There is something quite lovely about the way they bond for life.

Hello, all! I'd read earlier some speculation on when the cameras would be turned off. It was thought Carlos might share this info today during the interviews. I wasn't able to see them. Did he say if he's set a day to go dark? I'm guessing that in the next day or so, the last two will leave the box, so I guess I'd better get ready for that!

Yes definitely. This silence is so strange and I'd much rather it was noby again. If this is their night to fledge forever, then this is the night. I will miss them a lot but appreciated the opportunity to watch the process.

Hello, and thank you for your patience.
You can now pre-order your hardcover of Molly the Owl children's book at the Web site: www.mollytheowlbooks.com
Due to the volume of emails (thank you very much!), we have created a list of frequently asked questions and answers. You can view them on the site, and everything should be self-explanatory from there. You can order on PayPal using either your PayPal account or most major credit cards. Please remember that all orders are PRE-payments for the book, which will be printed and delivered in October 2010, in time for the holidays. We will be accepting pre-orders for this signed first edition for the next two weeks or so. Kind thanks for your support,

Eric Blehm

Any further questions, please reply to erb@ericblehm.com.

AVATAR COLLAGE ALERT I just scooped up (some new, I think, Avatars) and finally snagged the famous missing Melody. They're at the bottom (can't do anymore inserting tonight.) Might have to put in the Owl Kitty even though it's not an avatar... just too d cute for this Kitty lover. Kathleen Kelly Warren..... right now I'm trying to keep it at 8.5x11 so people can print their own copy or put it on a CD and get it printed at Kirkos.

Or if you want a larger poster Sam's Club and COSTCO have very reasonable prices. KINKOs and other copy shops should be able to print.

My printing individually for people would be cumbersome.... If enough people had a strong opinion for a large poster.... maybe... I just don't want to step on any one's toes or do something Carlos wouldn't approve of. I'll listen to feedback.

Hi Kelly
We grow corn and soybeans and raise sheep. Every year we have some yahoo steal a bunch of corn thinking it's sweet corn but it's feed corn. Quite a surprise when they bite into. Serves them right.

Well to go on with the story. I was just too tired so I just left my computer on and went to bed. So this morning I had some kind of stray.exe error window showing My husband says OH OH!! You have an error. So I came in here and sure enough. I don't even know what that error meant. Wasn't sure what to do. So I clicked ok, something about debug.. But to make a long story short, I didn't lose any of the 42 pictures I hadn't saved yet.. Whew... I was sweating it though.

Just remembering how we were all feeling when the first of the owlets left the box. Now that we've seen these last two fly straight out of the box, and spend the right out side.....probably snatching their own food.....we're soooooo ready for them to fledge. I know I'll miss seeing the box occupied during the day, but know they're totally ready to make it on their own now. It's such a different feeling! It's as if we've all "brought them up" to be independent creatures.

RECIPE FOR PRESERVING OWLETS - By Storymom
Take 1 large field, 4 adorable baby owls, several trees, a cool brook, a large quantity of field mice and a pinch of pebbles. Mix the owlets and trees together and stir frequently. Pour the brook over the pebbles. Sprinkle the field with flowers, various grasses and the field mice. Fill the trees with a gentle summer breeze. Spread over a deep blue sky and bake in the summer sun. When done, set away safely in a cozy owl box or tree stump. Wrap securely in awe and store in the hearts of everyone.

I don't know if you all saw the runway show of CowVin Kbin recently. There was the "nothing comes between me and my CowVins" jodhpur pants in white or rufous -- very chic! There was also a stunning cape of brown and white with dark speckles: when the model raised her arms, they almost looked like wings! Finally, there was a feather-trimmed cOWL that framed the face in a perfect heart shape! These items will definitely be the hit and will undoubtedly sell like ratcakes! Look for them in at the high end owl boxes!

Lynn in Georgia: FB can be a great tool for keeping in touch with those you choose to keep up with - don't be afraid of it! 😊 I was unsure for the longest time, but can't believe how much fun it can be. Ultimately it is what you make of it.

I envy you folks who have fresh berries and fruits right now. Some early strawberries now because of the early warm season, but most won't be ready for self-pick until July. I use to be within easy distance to wild blueberries, raspberries, blackberries and wild cranberries - free for the picking 😊 - and made jams, cranberry sauce and froze quarts of all of them.

It really irks me to see people do that. Many have no idea where their food comes from - except wrapped in plastic in the produce aisle - or that fields must be planted to feed what ends up in the meat aisle. And I hate it when they do the same thing to the "luggers" heading road construction traffic. These men and women risk their lives out there in all kinds of weather - only to get the "bird" from some people.

Vacation Bible School... It's usually about 5 days during the day at a church. Lots of fun activities for kids to learn about God and Bible stories.

VBS usually leads the youth (grades pre through middle school) in spirituality and praise, etc., through mediums such as crafts, Bible Study, Lessons, Games, snack times, (we even serve dinner), Song, It's a huge week-long event at our church finalizing with a big presentation to the parents, family, and guests complete with potluck and "treats" ... yup - you heard me !!! I, too, cleaned out the whole cache a few weeks ago - lost avatar, history details (not that anything I had to say was important) - because it cleared the cookies. I've tried just keeping temporary files and history deleted, but I'm just about to do the whole thing again. If I was sure about what I was doing, I could clear the cookies one at a time, but there are several there from Sportsman's Paradise and I'm not sure which others might be connected.

If you're on IE, check the 'Temporary Internet Files' only to be cleared. That won't touch your cookies.

So precious, Ingrid. Looks like a "hummingbird hammock". What variety of hummingbird? We only have ruby-throated ones here and their nests are always very well hidden in trees and lower scrub brush. I would never think of one being in a garage or even under the eaves as an earlier one on the SP eb.com was.

I would like to take recommendations on which members to promote and be sure to give suggestions on appropriate titles, too. Currently, only officers/administrators are capable of uploading content - photos, videos, etc.

So far:

Coleen Tyler - Owllet Artist in Residence
Kate W. Pile - Owlsaurus Extraordinaire
Kristi Smith - Red Helmeted Mouser of Good Will

way to get a molly watcher off of the computer in 4 easy steps:

1. rotate their head counterclockwise for one minute
2. massage their shoulders and lower neck for one minute
3. rol chair back and forth
4. push chair backwards and lure away with a chocolate bar

my 10 yr old wrote this and uses it quite often 😊

I know this lady in England and her young kids stay in school till end of July! They have a shorter summer vacation but many more breaks during the year then we have in Quebec. We have 180 days of school. dosent sound like enough.

I posted this for you below, but it was getting lost quickly. I'll check the local paper for an online article about yesterday's storm. You're right, Maine seldom has tornadoes and seldom as dangerous as in other states, but we do get a few from time to time. Presently living in Phillips - between Farmington & Rangeley. Several areas of Maine had tornado watches and warnings yesterday. One bad storm not far from Lewiston/Auburn. A funnel cloud was seen, but not confirmed yet as a tornado.

I know your question is directed to Cindy Wood Mitchell, Lois. I live in Maine, too, and didn't see her message about tornadoes. We don't "usually" have tornadoes and not as severe as FL (we sat through many watches and warnings there last winter) and many other states. There was at least one possible tornado in Maine yesterday (still waiting for weather service to verify) but several severe storms, trees down, houses damaged in various areas.

Marb, from last summer (that the weather channel got? I watched that on the live stream, it was in WY. Pretty awesome, a crazy view they got when the storm cloud folded over and they could look down into the funnel.

Stephanie, He is not really into storm chasing but this is a huge project and he is required to be part of it. He works at the NSSL developing and using computer models to predict lightning strikes, research on storm electrification. He has been seen in a couple of The Weather Channel clips, actually got to speak in one last year but he isn't a Dr. Storm-chasing Bluestein. I have a copy of his Doctoral work, lots of colorful charts and storm models that don't really mean a whole lot to me.

Barb and Mary,
I grew up in Kansas City, MO not far from the Kansas border. I never take Tornado warnings lightly. Before I was born in 1957, the Ruskin tornado started in mid-KS and went all of the way to almost mid-MO. It was a mile wide and a lot of folks lost their lives. After reading all of my parents Kansas City Star (or Times) news account of that fateful day, I go running to the basement the minute the sirens come on. "There's no place like home....there's no place like home."

You must get a chill every time those go off. Tornadoes are rare in NY, so we don't have the sirens.
Today, 18:40:39 - Flag - Like - Reply

Barb
Mary Pat, we don't have sirens here either. We do have a weather radio that can be placed on standby and will alert you to warnings. We need to upgrade to one that you can specify what warning you get. We keep getting woken by marine warnings because we are so close to Lake Erie and that is really annoying. We only put it on standby when we know there is bad weather coming.

Yes, I do! When I was in High School my parents had gone out to dinner over in KS. My sister, Jennifer and I were the only ones home. I was down on my hands and knees in the basement with Jenn and everything was shaking like the straw man from Wizard of Oz!!!

 Ah, the split screen again. We once again see our bird realtor trying to sell this place. "Nicely built one room house, suitable for any bird wanting a large family. Current family needs to sell fast as the kids are heading off to college and parents are experiencing empty nest syndrome. Make an offer, priced to sell." 😊

 My break was for a quick power nap and to watch a PBS documentary about research into toxic venoms secreted by various spiders, squid, bobwh fish, squid etc. and their possible use in medicine as painkillers. Also a chemical in one species of gila monster that may prove useful in diabetes research for a medicine to regulate blood sugar. Pretty gruesome, scary critters there, but amazing possibilities. More amazing that some native tribes and cultures have known the value of these toxins from plants, marine and desert animals for years. Biology lesson over and back for some fun 😊

Me too, Jan. I got to know Motown much, much later, and discovered that there was a small army of fabulous gal singers whose careers fell by the wayside once Diana Ross came along. I mourn them, because they were hugely talented and had voices that were so unique to hers! But as in all things, she and the Supremes were one of the great commercial successes of all times, and that is what matters. (BTW, their songs were fabulous!!!) Two of my favorites who lost out to Diana were Kim Weston and Brenda Holloway. You can find videos of them on youtube. Kim is still singing, although her following is just a few guys like me. You may remember her for her recording of "It Takes Two Babes" with Marvin Gaye. Her hit "Take me in your arms, rock me, rock me a little while", to me, is one of the truly great songs to come out of Motown.

Just an idea of the madness...I was driving my husband to another field, we are way behind planting because of rain, and I swerved to avoid a bird that looked like he was coming straight for the truck. "What the" my hubby yells, and I cried, "she had something in her mouth, it might be a momma going to feed her babies." As he was rubbing the side of his head, which did bonk off the window when I swerved he yelled "you've got this MOD 'stuffed' out the wabzoo and it ain't pretty sster, it ain't pretty!!!!" This told me many things about him but 3 that I can say here. 1) planting season has gone on way too long and nerves are fried, 2) he needs to learn how to sway better, and 3) he actually does listen when I talk to him, he retained the word MOD. Who knew.
