Live Barn Owl Nest Box Cam - San Marcos, CA

This is a live feed of a wild female barn owl named Molly. The owl box is located 15 feet off the ground. The male (McGee) has a white chest and face. He usually shows up after dark but has spent an entire day with the female. For more Information about the owls and this cam. Click Here Click Here to "Like" us on Facebook.

How fitting to end as we began, a sole owl in the box! First it was Molly as she allowed us to observe the ways of the Barn Owl. And what an experience it has been, Molly, McGee, Max, Pattison, Austin and Wesley! All would not have been possible if it wasn't for Carlos & Donna Royal. A heartfelt thank you to all, something this MOD will remember every time I hear an owl or even see that bunny in the yard. (Hope to never see a rat! If I do I will pray for a family of Barn Owls ASAP to come rescue me.) Thank you all fellow MOD twitters.

I thought it was from a magazine on horses. It's an article about Molly and it is a bit funny seeing this individuals take on it. Says the box is managed by 2 scientist! Does he mean Carlos & Donna do you think? Obviously didn't spend a great deal of time researching the article.

I agree, Jan--funniest threads I've read in a long time! Yes, I think James said somewhere yesterday that he's 42... so he's only two years younger than I am, since I decided I'd take the "average" age as my age (44) Well, actually, he's either 42 or 92....

Yesterday I saw three birds perched up in the neighbor's huge oak. My first thought was that the screech owls had come back and had little ones. I look a bit doper and see that they are rock pigeons and I think, "Where is that hawk when you need it?"

You know, Natalie, it was the funniest thing - as I fell asleep last night, my last thought was that I had to share this with everyone in the chat room. Yet when I started typing it, I thought to myself, "Everyone is going to think I'm completely out of my mind!" But I should have known better - songs for kids like this one really get around! Can you suggest any way to get this song out of my mind now??

Good morning. Been here for a bit - saw part of Carlos' update, did a little "scrolling and strolling" and a few comments. It's bittersweet, but all is going according to the plan of what barn owls have been doing forever. Hold onto all of your good memories of this event and this experience and be happy for Molly, McGee and family. With those old wise words of wisdom, I'm off until later this afternoon. Hold the fort - and no more glitches and gremlins in the broadcast system or the chat room today... you hear??

I'll bet he (she?) takes off for good tonight. The last bird usually starts to feel uncomfortable being alone and will want to be with the others. So sad to see them go, but at the same time, so happy. A very bittersweet moment.

Good morning MODS, it is a beautiful day here in Madison with lots of flowers, birds and bright sun. I'm glad the "kids" are making it on their own, just wish Wesley had joined them, but she's the baby, so I'm sure her family will do whatever to help her OUT. Can I ask where Merrit is, I have been ill for a few days and missed a lot of the chat!g. Thanks, friends, and have a good owl day.

I don't think I can handle the sing-abng. As I was falling asleep last night that dangd song got in my brain and I couldn't get it out. I had to resort to desperate measures - singing this little ditty that we kids would sing to each other:

"Great green gobbs of greasy, griny gopher guts,
Mincenated monkey meat,
Concentrated birdies feet:
One quart jar of all purpose porpoise pus -
That. Is. YOU."

Anyone familiar with that song?

Prey animals can be quite bold around predators when they know the predators are full. Don't know if that applies in this case, but I'm thinking it might. On the other hand, the dove may simply have no idea that there is an owl in the box!!

So Austin is leaving Wesley alone? Actually, I'm a bit relieved. He's been looking so hot in that box. I've enjoyed the last few months immensely, but I want what's best for them. Hopefully, we can watch them play for a few nights before it's all over. Have a great day everyone! (Last week of school!!! 😊) man... dreamed that wesley had gone flying over the ocean and had fallen into the water -- I enlisted an eagle owl to help me try to find her.

I've been thinking about these owls too much.
how bittersweet to come back and see that wesley's safe, but alone.

I've decided to be enormously proud of Austin for being a "big Boy" and joining the big kids and Molly and McGee... he did exactly what he needed to do... and so will Weslie Anne...at though, I must admit that way back I predicted Molly and McGee would have to enter the box, pick up a sleeping Weslie Anne, and carry her out...and she'd still be sleeping...hope THAT doesn't come to be...:P...!!

There is our little WesleyAnne alone in the box... with full run of the box/house. She can flap her wings, preen, and snooze sprawled out on the floor if she desires.
Austin came around a couple of times to think it over and dedided it was his time out... probably told WesleyAnne, "you will be alright... the rest of us will be just across the way in the palm tree... and tomorrow u can join us if u want'a". 😊 Oh yeah, if today is WesleyAnne's last day in the box it will be same number of days as Max and Patti from 'stepping out date' until 'not returning to the box date'.

A brief sad story to tell, but it helps me keep things in perspective when I start feeling sad about our Owlets moving away from us....
My neighbor lady had to allow her dog to be put down Sunday morning. Poor Jake was 13, and had heart and kidney problems, and was keeping losing Quality of Life.... I cried with her cuz I considered him MY guard dog too. He always let me know when anyone was outside the apartments. I also empathize with losing your Pet/Family. The hardest part for me to accept is that she lives alone, and he was her trustworthy, devoted, loyal companion. He put up with me trying to pet him, but that was about it.

OK, just thought I would share that as a reminder, to me more than anything, that our owlets are BEGINNING their life when they move to the palm tree. 😊

Here's what I got. 5:06 Wesley was alone on the box and flew away till 8:09, bringing Austin to the roof with her. 5:10 Austin flew away, and Wesley flew away a few seconds later. 5:14 Wesley flew to the roof, 5:15 to the playground, then to the cantilevered camera thingy, then to the porch, and climbed into the box.

Hi From Upper Marlboro, Maryland! I have thoroughly enjoyed watching these owls grow. Though the hissing/squawking emitting from the owls is not the most pleasing sound I have ever heard, I find that while I sit here at my work desk with one earphone in my ear, the sound is soothing. I am going to miss both their banter and maneuvers.

What an idiot I am, have just deleted my last post instead of replying.
I said that all 4 have been at the box an hour before sunrise for the last few days. When I posted there were only three, and then the 4th arrived so was going to say I spoke too soon.
Never mind, I'll go and get on with some housework 😊

Hi Teri - sorry you've missed some of this fun, but family does have to come first.
You can catch up on everything in short order here at the timeline. Some dedicated MOD's have kept this updated. Click here: TIMELINE

- ▶ All 4 owlets have survived and thrived
- ▶ Two have moved out and are living in a nearby palm tree
- ▶ We expect Wes (female) and Austin (male) to join them today or tomorrow
- ▶ All 4 are hunting (not Wes too much), flying (not Wes too much), and still being fed by the parents
- ▶ We're pretty certain that Max is female and Patti is still a bit uncertain, but probably male

Hope that helps!

 As much as I love to see her here, she really needs to get out there and hunt soon or she won't survive in the wild. Mom and dad will stop feeding her at some point. I want her to do well and do what she was created for so I'm really hoping she gets out there and stops expecting food to come to her. She is still young but it needs to happen in the next few days.

 Apparently you missed the talk earlier. Carlos said he spoke with the head biobgist of Fish and Game. He was told the adults may continue to feed the young for up to 4 weeks. Nothing out of the ordinary here. And Wes is right on track with the development of the others. 7 Days, almost exactly behind Max, so far.

 Thanks. I didn't hear that talk. I still wish she'd get out there. I know she's a week behind Max but Max and Pattison have stayed out once they left. At least Austin is probably out there hunting. I know she has time. Just hate to see anything happen to her. The youngest are the ones who don't survive sometimes.

 I missed the talk too so thanks James! I'm not too concerned about her yet as Moly and McGee have done a brilliant job so far and in the early days Moly would always make sure the two older ones were fed first and then used to turn away with the two youngest to make sure they got fed too. I just think she is just doing the same now - making sure Max and Pattison are pretty much hunting for themselves before she works on Austin and Wes - at least it gives us a few more days to watch them! I'm not entirely convinced that Austin will be back in the box today though!

 Yes, I think Austin and Wes have a special bond because of the way Moly would feed them separate from the older two. I'm not sure Austin will be back in the morning because he seemed really ready to go yesterday morning but came back at the last minute. Moly and McGee have done an excellent job with their young ones. They instinctively know what to do best for them.
