Hello and good Saturday morning everyone, from the south shore of Long Island, NY 😊
I missed the owl goings-on last evening. Although I'm sad to see the "For Rent: the owl box" sign; it appears our last owl has left the nest, as it should be 😊

I wonder if Carlos is fully aware of the social aspect of all this - not just that people from 50 countries have logged on, but of the friendships made and the sense of togetherness that are the result of watching the owls - and watching him! It's a whole other dynamic, and a heartening, encouraging thing to witness - especially for me, who had lately and often felt pretty disappointed with my fellow humans. All of you wonderful people have made me feel grateful and happy reborn!. Thank you all so very, very much!!

It was inevitable but agree that what we hoped for we got...a happy ending!! I have so loved every minute of this experience and will never forget the owls or the people. I live in NYC and am going to try with some others to plan a get together via Facebook

 Say it ain't so!!!! We all knew this day would come. It's bittersweet, but WOW. I feel so lucky to have been a part of this family. Carlos and Donna and of course the Royal Family ... Moly and McGee and the 4 most adorable Owlets in the world!!! I envy Carlos and Donna but they deserve it the most. They will continue to watch this family as they fly from the Palm tree and back again. I feel somewhat fortunate since I also have a palm tree with a family of owls that I can watch each night. It'll just imagine that they're the Royal Family, hahaha. Thank you so much Carlos and Donna for sharing this once in a lifetime experience with all of us. You have enriched our lives and made us better human beings. All the best and lots of hugs and kisses from me and my family. We love you all!!!!

 Isn't it great they all survived and grew up to become such beautiful children of Moly and McGee. I won't cry because they are still in the box in my memory banks and now they are living the life they were brought on this earth to live and enjoy. By the way the song is so cute too. Thanks Carlos and Donna. We are on our RV trek and maybe we will run into you during our Western tour. I can't believe we have internet access in our first RV State park. Woohoot.

 Well, I guess Wesley needed Austin there to reassure him that it's ok to live "outside the box". They flew out just one minute apart! Kinda cute!! I will miss this but, I'm glad that all is normal and all the owls are free and well. However, I wouldn't be surprised if someone didn't return tonight for a sleepover in the box, just for old times sake! ☺☺

 The mockingbird has arrived already, but I'm not sure if he's interested in renting or he's the real estate agent. I side on the real estate agent because he's been around for weeks - checking on exterior defects and watching the owlets to judge when he could have the box ready to show prospective renters.

Good morning from Atlanta again on this momentous day, everyone. Here are the hunting stats, which might continue until Monday, and the branching stats, which are the last that will be posted.

June 11/12 Total treats observed: 3. Times: 10:20p, 2:17a, 3:40a.

Branching Stats: Austin out at 8:26p. Wesley out at 8:27p. After flying, hunting (maybe, in the case of Wesley), and playing at the playground all night, they returned to the roof of the owl box at 8:16a. At 8:17a, Austin flew off to the southeast, and Wesley followed him a few seconds later. The entire family is now officially installed at The Palms.

God bless us every one.

I think if that is what you have learned from this experience then you are truly blessed. I bet Carlos would love to hear from you. I wish you the best in life. A few of the things I think that have helped me as I was finding my way was that

You get out of a situation what you put into it.
Nothing is as good or as bad as it seems at the time.

Everything happens for a reason good or bad we don't always understand the reason at the time.

Nothing lasts for ever... this too shall pass help me a bit some days.

And the hard stuff happens to teach a lesson learn it and we move through life gracefully fight it and we repeat the same mistakes over and over.

I know you didn't ask for all that but if it helps in some small way

I am at a loss for words to describe my appreciation for what Carlos and Donna and company have provided for the past 120 days or so. They have brought so many of us so much closer to nature, and more in touch with each other as well as ourselves.

We can only hope they feel what we feel, and that is lots of gratitude. We hope their vacation trip is a wonderful experience.

We also hope that if there should be another occasion of owls using their nest box, that the Royals would again bless the world with what they have just completed, all over again.

Yep, we need more folks like the Royals, and by them exposing themselves, hopefully more people will become like them.

Best wishes and Happy Trails to one and all, and especially the Royals.

Thank you Austin for coming back for one final day and not leaving your sister behind. Good job Wesley! This has been a truly wonderful breath taking experience from beginning to now. Thank you to the Royal family for sharing this with us. And thank you to everyone on this site. I was so lucky to have found such a great group to hang out with every night during this journey.

Is it possible that new owls will come to this box and start a new family?

Molly may have another clutch. If she does not survive to do so then one of the owlets may use the box.
Today, 05:41:30 - Flag - Like - Reply

Omosaurus
Yes. It's possible that Molly & McGee will return later this summer or that one of the owlets will return when they are around a year old to use the box for their own clutch. We'll have to wait and see!

That is likely but the real question is whether Carbs will stream the feed again. Nocturnal birds that are also awake during the day takes a huge amount of time. He said he would add a camera to the kestrel box and feed those but turn the camera of at night when all are sleeping.

Somebody posted a link to a European owlcam yesterday, I think, but I can't find it now way down in the basement. It wasn't the UK Barn Owl trust one but somewhere on mainland Europe. Anyone know what it was as it's not showing up in my history.

RECIPE FOR PRESERVING OWLETS - By Storymom 5-26-2010
Take 1 large field, 4 adorable baby owls, several trees, a cool brook, a large quantity of field mice and a pinch of pebbles. Mix the owlets and trees together and stir frequently. Pour the brook over the pebbles. Sprinkle the field with flowers, various grasses and the field mice. Fill the trees with a gentle summer breeze. Spread over a deep blue sky and bake in the summer sun.
When done, set away safely in a cozy owl box or tree stump. Wrap securely in awe and store in the hearts of everyone.

I think it was a plan. Austin brought the treat outside the box to eat so no crumbs left in the box for Wes later. Pattison (or Max) kept watch so Wes didn't come down and steal, then cleaned up the crumbs. All the while Wes is (out of sight & swacking) on the camera perch. Nice job kids. Maybe it will work today.

laura - When you log in, and when you make an original posting, you have an opportunity to rate. When you're typing, look for the white stars to your left. If you click on the stars, they turn gold. Then when you hit post, they'll appear on your post. They don't show up when you're making a reply or comment to someone, only when you make an original posting. Have I confused you more now? I hope not!

According to what I have read the parents help them out until they have enough saved for a down payment on a small condo of their own, or approximately 80 days give or take which ever comes first.

Well things seem to be breaking up. One little dummy fell off his bike almost in front of me ( I swear it was not my fault ☺ ) He then proceeds to answer his phone before getting up. None of these kids looked over 18, legal drinking age in Quebec, where the you know what are the parents? This is when I pray my sweet baby does not act so stupid when she grows up. Garden and grass nice and wet.

There was a high school graduation party at the home across the street from us last weekend. Nice kid and we were there for part of the party, then all the neighbors left so the kids could have fun. Apparently they had a little too much fun because one of them drove into their garage door when they were leaving around 3am.
