My computer crashed last Thursday and I've just caught bits and pieces of all of the happenings in the Owl Box...it is back up and running in just this last 30 minutes. I knew how much I'd miss our owl family when this was over but I had a taste of missing all of you very much these last four days...I wasn't able to read all of your funny, funny comments, the touching things that often are shared, the stories of pets, kids...everything. I teach children with autism, emotional disturbance and some who need extra help with academics. I love what I do but it is stressful at times...being able to "tune-in" to the "Molly Show"...and being a part of this little community...with all of you...made everything seem just happier...THANK YOU...!

Barb
Have you marked your calendar to attend the Nature at Night event at the Cleveland Metroparks North Chagrin Reservation? I think we're going to have an informal get-together there.

We've come to the end of a great journey. We've had a wondrous glimpse into the nighttime life of a very endearing species. What would we do without them all over the world. Barnows have helped humankind survive by taking out the millions of rats and vermin and all while we are sleeping! Thank you Mollys and McGees all over the world!!! My kids promised to give me my own owlbox for our garden. Please come and live with us, owles..... we'll treasure your presence. How I would love to one day hear that "screed screech" right here. Thank you all, my MOD friends.....you have made this so enjoyable....it was wonderful. I'll miss it all so much. America is great fun!

Hazel Vinnay Michalski
Thank you Gisela. It has been our pleasure for you to enjoy this experience with us. Nature has no borders. All of us have learned from this experience. My best to you and your country.

Mary Carroll (the Shadow)
If your winters are really cold, see if there is a way you can make sure the owls get enough food when the snow is on the ground. From what I read, many owls die of starvation where it is really cold.

Sylvia Hix
Hi Gisela,
I know this is a very stupid question, as I am sure there are many Gisela's in Germany. But, I have to ask--did you ever date/see an American GI who was stationed in Germany during the Vietnam war era? It would have been in the mid to late 60's. What a lark of a question!

Dianne, their appearance was extremely short - no more than 2 minutes. They said thank you to everyone for making this a tremendous experience. They said nothing even remotely emotional, said nothing about the future - just thank you, and good-bye. I personally think it was perfect. They did not give any reason for anyone to speculate as to whether they would return, or give future news of the owls, or anything of that sort. It was just a clean break.

With the cams down and no more owls to watch, it is only now that I realize that it wasn't the owls that brought me back day after day. It was sharing it all with you. That made all the difference. Dudley was the last egg laid and didn't hatch.

The rabbit was not likely Tauntz. Tauntz was smart. He/she played around the base of the owl box in the day, and hid at night.

homeschoolinc
Read today that barn owls do not hunt under their nests. It has something to do with the type of flight they use to leave an area and the type of silent flight used to hunt. So tauntz was safe all along.

Wow that was nice, I've wanted them forever.

Tried to go thru and like the farewell comments, but the words were flowing too fast, someone called it a waterfall of comments. Carlos said they started this for their family...and now they have a really big family. LOVE IT! Good night y'owl. I am delighted I got to be part of the family. love you - Melissa

So very glad the final good-bye was recorded. Just home from watching my two granddaughters who were also Molly watchers and was afraid I would miss it. This has been such an incredible ride and even though I do not post frequently, I have read others every day and have enjoyed all of them. What will I do when it is nearly 1 a.m. and I can't sleep?? I think it was fitting that Molly and Magge returned to the box to "bond" as Carlos and Donna bid goodbye. The very best to all of you and a heartfelt thank-you to Carlos and Donna and all who contributed to this amazing story. Signing off from Ipswich, MA. Jude

One last thing to do...delete this site from "my favorites". I'm not ready yet...What a wonderful experience... I wonder if there is any way that Austin (the person!) could let us know if Molly and McGee come back tonight, or tomorrow, or the next day. Hmm, I'm definitely not ready to say goodbye...

PS - Is there some sort of support group out there for the Owl Watchers????

Now I am sad. Going to miss Carlos and his daily chats.

Not sure what I am going to do with all my free time.

I am going to miss the chat. James you are one of a kind. It's been fun and I am glad I was a part of this.

Jeannie, I'm so glad that you were able to spend some "togetherness" with your husband here watching the owl box and some quiet time by yourself and that it brightened your days. Alzheimers is such a devastating disease and only one who is or has dealt with it can appreciate how difficult it is for you. My prayers go out to you. I'm sure you know that there are other wildlife web cams on the Sportsman's Paradise site to enjoy with your husband.

Jeanne There are no words to express how much we're going to miss all this. We've had so much fun watching, reading and laughing (my eyes teared up so regularly that I had to remember to sit back - afraid I might short-circuit the keyboard). It's been wonderful, relaxing, entertaining, informative and - my husband (who has Alzheimer's) watched with me often - I read the comments about while he watched the owlets. I'm not sure he understood everything I said but he always smiled. He laughed every time he'd see their little faces peek out the doorway and their antics on their playground. Will some of you post a couple thousand times and send this to the basement please?

Busted flat in southern Cal, flyin' in the rain
Feelin' nearly speckled as my sheen
Molly spied a owl box brown,
Just before it rained
Took us all the way to worldwide fame

I took my field mouse out of my dirty brown clutched talon
And was ripping it while Molly sang the blues
I tossed it to her, bonding time
And Molly cluckin' beaks in time
We ate up every kind of rodent Carlos grew

I think the Royal's good bye was as hard for them as it was for us and maybe that's why it was so short and sweet. There really was nothing more to say than what he said. We are all sad that it is over and we will miss the friends we have met here. We will meet each other again along the way either here, on FB or at other web cams. Perhaps we all hoped and hoped that the story would continue, but, in reality, the story of Molly, McGee, Max, Pattison, Austin and Wesley (Dudley and Betty, too) has come to a happy ending. If Molly and McGee are considering another clutch, it would be a whole new story with different players. We all know that Carlos and Donna need to go on with their vacation and other plans, but we can hope that he will consider sharing a sequel to the Molly & McGee story in the future.

God bless these owls. Keep them in your care. Help them find lots of food to eat. Help people to not throw food out on the side of the road, which attracts rodents and then puts our beautiful birds in harm's way. Or at least help our owl family to find plenty of food in the fields around San Marcos. Amen.

Well it's 2.15am here - I managed to stay awake!! I'm not going to say goodbye though as I'm sure we will still keep in touch - at least I hope so. I don't believe that's the end of it anyway somehow - that Goodbye speech was a bit out of character for Carbs in my opinion and to not mention last night's antics at all - makes me think this may not be the end of it... maybe I'm just being over hopeful! Anyway it's been an absolute pleasure meeting everyone here - as I say I'm sure we will keep in touch whatever happens - and massive thanks to Carbs and Donna for the last few months and all the effort and time and everything else they have put into this I hope they have a wonderful vacation! ... and on that note I'm going to bed - so not goodbye but definitely good Night!! (and I'm still coming back on here tomorrow morning - I bet I won't be alone!!)

Nox et amor vinumque nihil moderabile suadent. Illa pudora vacat, liber amorque metu.

And since Elliott hasn't returned from the library, I will translate:
Night and love and wine lead to nothing in moderation. The first banishes shame, and drink and love banish fear. (It's Ovid.)

What made the site fun was the constant give and take of information. I loved answering someone one day and then seeing someone use that information to answer a question the next! I made me smile every time and it happened over and over. Everything about this site has been a joy.
Thanks to all of you.

No, no word M&M's mating last night ☺ I am sure they don't want to raise any expectations among those who would insist on them broadcasting another brood for another several months. In that case, he would be smart to hand the broadcast operations over to an online remote service who can monitor the cameras. But my money is on the fact that by mid-July, Molly will be settin' more eggs and it will start all over again. ☺

Goodbye and thank you to the royal Royals! And a reprise: to my dear MODs:

You do look, my MODs, in a moved sort,
As if you were dismay'd. Be cheerful, friends,
Our revels now are ending. These our owlets,
As Carlos told, were from "nature" and
Are melted into air, into thin air;
And, like the streaming fabric of this vision,
The cloud-capp'd hills, the gorgeous garden,
The solemn Owl Box, the great Playground itself,
Yea, all which scrolls past, shall dissolve,
And, like this insubstantial chat stream fade,
Leave not an avatar behind. We are such stuff
As dreams are made on, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep....

- Shakespeare, The Tempest Act 4, scene 1, with minor modifications (!) 😊

I'll remember you always. Thank you. And we were all part of it!

None. A once in a life time event. He's not going to do this again. He started off sharing the video with his sister and mother and then it snowballed. He never meant it to be as big as it was. Highly unlikely that he will take 4 months out of his life again, like he did this time.

I'm concerned about Wesley! 😞 Seems Moly and McGee are preparing to raise another batch of owlets. Wesley is still a baby for another week. Plus she has been delayed in all of her tasks. She took longer to leave the box, and she's only just started staying away. Can she even hunt on her own yet? She seems to still go to the box and rely on home delivery 😞

For the very last time...

I cannot even imagine a rhyme...

Our hearts are happy, yet sad

And now it's time for us to be glad..

For the owlets who have grown

And gone on their way...

In hopes we will see them again some day..

I know this is so hard to say "goodbye"

We all do thank you Carlos...and now time for a good cry...

Good evening everyone! This was great fun! 😊 Just wish since the events of last night with M & M we'd be able to follow M & M: The Next Generation! Met a lot of nice, funny, intelligent, kind people here. What an experience, watching the owls grow up, changing day by day. I don't think I'll follow another owl or bird family the same way as we did here: this was a one time event that was great over a few months and I have to simplify my life. I'll probably pop in sometime somewhere from time to time. Thinking of it a little bit this way, the box may be empty but that means they are out there having a great time in the palm tree of life. Godspeed everyone! 😊

Lisa from Newark De... I am really going to miss watching Moly caring for her babies...and McGee making sure that they stay fed!! I never got tired of watching for hours...boy where did all the time go. I know that this is the last time we will hear from Carbs and Donna...but with Moly and McGee in the box last night...we all might have to tune in again soon. It was really nice interacting with every 1 here and I am glad to say that I am part of the MOD clan!!!

Dearest, Max, I know I loved you most....

for peaking at the camera around mom and capturing our imagination. You led the way.

Dearest Pattison, I'm sure I loved you most...

for your adventurous spirit and distinguished stance. You kept up with Max.

Dearest Austin, no doubt I loved you most... the way you tenderly cared for Wes and wouldn't leave her behind. You stole my heart.

Dearest Wesley, with no hesitation I loved you the very most... the baby who didn't want to grow up.

You will always live in my heart and my memory.

Hi All...Just returned from my son's graduation in San Luis Obispo. We had the surprise pleasure of discovering some great horned owls...mama and three owlets in some giant eucalyptus trees about a mile from where we stayed. It made me think of all of you. I went out walking one morning and spotted them. Yes, I took a million photos!
Well, I will miss all you MODs. This has been an amazing journey. Keep your eyes and ears open and you never know what you might find in your own backyard! God Bless!

I can't comprehend that the box will not be on-line anymore. It has become a part of my life. I so hope Carls and Donna reconsider and put up the box, even if they don't communicate with us personally. Like the other boxes, which all have no owner interaction. That would be fine with me. I understand how all consuming it has been for them, but oh, what a wonderful experience for the rest of us in this world.

Google has a translation function. If you are running Chrome it will do it automatically. If not Chrome, then go to Google and search for translate. I think you can just plug in a website to their translator and it will work. Cool!

So, just to pass more time until Carlos:
Part of the success of this chat site particularly is it represents a particular demographic of mostly women (and Dreamcoat 😊) who are mothers, grandmothers, teachers, pet lovers, students, homeschool moms, (or all of the above!) 😊
The chat stayed on topic, supportive, and became for many of us a special place where kind, loving, nurturing people could gather together for humor, wonderment, creativity, laughter, stories, sharing... 😊
In short, we get it and what we will miss is this special place and time each day to be with owl of you. It was the reward for dealing with the rest of our lives!
With that... 😊😊😊😊 Let the Carlos show begin! 😊

One last time... even more fun now that Molly & McGee might be starting anew!

A GIFT SO RARE

Oh look! For here we have the fearsome pair
Known well to us as Molly and McGee.
They gave us all a gift so very rare:
The chance to watch owls living wild and free.

Their saga started earlier this year
When mated hearts were touched by Nature's Hand.
They chose a home so comfy and so dear
On Carlos' camera laden owlbox stand.

McGee brought food while Molly calmly stayed
As millions watched the precious little batch:
Upon soft down and rabbit fur she laid.
Oh when, we asked, will these eggs ever hatch?

We won't believe that this could be our folly:
This passion for the family of Molly!

I see many old familiar faces... friends and have missed you all so very much. And I see many new faces as well 😊 I've been watching on my iPhone everynight, and have caught all the major milestones.... each and every one. I've so missed chatting with you all and am glad to be back in your company tonight. I am sad to see this all end, but so very joyous for this unforgettable, once-in-a-lifetime experience. Thank you all for sharing this with me. And one big HUGE applause for the dedication and hardwork of Carlos and Donna. I will certainly miss this little owl family. But wasn't last night crazy good?!? LOVE how it came full circle. Nature knows what she's doing 😊

I was joking with my husband that the reason why Carlos never made it back on today after going for tea was because the u stream execs were begging him to keep up the broadcast offering him anything, name the building after him, offering to make it easier to broadcast, less cable, more bandwidth, anything you need Carlos just keep the camera rolling.
