I was just looking for the egg and wondering if it was still running or if they had broken it. I don't watch these owls as much as the Tel Aviv owls only because the picture is clearer and larger and they are pretty funny-sometimes. But this family is sweet too and the mom seems to be a good mom like Molly was/will be again.

Looks like 2 standing, one sitting and two laying down right now. When they are active, some of them are often out in the side room. I don't think they are any where near ready to fledge yet.

Here is a quick screen capture of the Tel Aviv owls. There are two laying on the floor (one is back by the two standing and one laying by the other owl standing to the right in the photo. So there are still 5 of them left.

He looked so happy and was so upbeat. Most of his talk was about the status of the e-cookbook, the Molly ebook and Austin's video and an update on oily & McGee and that Austin (the owl) had paid a brief visit and sat on the kestrel box. He has a whole new set up in his office - looks like a mission control command center. He and Donna still hope to start on their vacation soon. I wouldn't be surprised if there isn't a video of his talk on the U Stream site.

Her certainty has set up an impressive command center there. Maybe...he'll reconsider broadcasting when they return from a couple of months vacation. But, let's at least hope he will continue updating us and posting pictures when they return. And lets hope he might broadcast all of a 3rd clutch. Molly really likes her home and has made it hers, so I think she will be back again after this family is gone.

happy? I hear both bodies being drawn toward each other below. This is a good time to just "notice" your own reactions. (Those are the only ones you have any control over) When we get angry, we hurt ourselves and protect the discord.

Elliott - Think of me saying your name as ET did in the movie... Remember no action is the answer. There is one in every crowd as they say. I am just excited to see so many of the MOD's showing up tonight for Carlos' appearance. I've seen so many names that haven't been in the chat room since the cameras went down from a couple they were just lurking. Hope they stick around. Those are the peeps we wait here. The others can simply disappear... Hope you are coping with the heat as well as you can back there. Have been thinking of you and Jan mostly because I am sure you are suffering in the sweltering heat. Stay cool at home and in your second home here too, ok??

AZGuest - you are too sweet!! I'm cool as a cucumber in my apartment, and have been through it all. Manhattan is down to 81 degrees now, so the night should be fine. Tomorrow is predicted to be 87, which is a perfectly normal summer temperature, so we're out of the oven. Thanks for keeping us in your thoughts!

Purjsa...high here, indeed...You have spoken from your heart that describes so well what we have experienced here TOGETHER. It's been transformational, life changing, fun, funny, sad, joyful, magical, loving, caring etc... We have opened our lives to each other and demonstrated a civility that I didn't think existed anymore. I am so grateful to everyone here for making this such a rich and rewarding journey. Hi all, I am back. I sent a quick message to everyone signed up on the SPO MOD site, and of course in all my excitement I got the date wrong so had to send a second one so sorry about that. And then I looked at the time and realized my daughter was about to be late for her piano lesson so did a mad dash out of the house...

So now I can relax for just a little bit before I have to run her to karate.

It means nothing, really, Lynda. It's a social networking "tool" used by sites/events. If you are "Following" Carlo's ust ream channel, then you get notified of "events" which you can RSVP to. Just like the Molly picnic. Just like the Molly picnic, people said they were attending but in reality it just meant they were going to watch (maybe, sort of, kinda). In reality it's nothing more than a notification that you've received a notification. Silly how the whole internet is one big mega gathering now, isn't it?

Or send him the link for the wiki that James, Kathryn, Chris, etc. created for us to help with MOD withdrawal. I am sure he would be very surprised and also with the SPO FB page. I am sure he has NO idea what so ever.

One of the best burger joints is in Philly. It is a little far to go for a hamburger, but it looks interesting

The hamburger with foie gras sounded good, although (like you) I really prefer my foie gras straight. Crazy Kat's Restaurant, 514 Monticahn Road, Wilmington, DE 19807 (302) 888-4200 does a very nice job of fixing foie gras. (Part of why I hang out in Delaware)

Becky, I grill my salmon on a cedar (or other) plank. I soak the plank in, your favorite and mine, apple juice! It stays so moist. I think salmon's on the menu tonight! My boys love it.

I assume that we have already discussed the fact that Molly laid an egg?! I know Carlos said he wasn't broadcasting as he was leaving on vacation. Polyanna here is hoping he will change his mind when he returns! How long can one vacate? Perhaps he will return and see cuteness, and he will just have to share! She looks cute in this picture. She looked haggard in the other photo. And, my hasn't she carpeted her house quickly!

Bon Appetit has a list of best burger joints. They said the following about Minetta Tavern in NYC.
Since its renovation, Minetta Tavern has best been described as "Parisian steakhouse meets classic New York City tavern."
