Live Owl Nest Box Cam

32100 votes

Live Barn Owl Nest Box Cam - San Marcos, CA

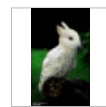

This is a live feed of a wild female barn owl named Molly. The owl box is located 15 feet off the ground. The male(McGee) has a white chest and face. He usually shows up after dark but has spent an entire day with the female. For more information about this camera click here.

Old habits die hard. I knew better than to come a-looking for our lovebirds. But I'll be hanging out here, there and everywhere. For now, the laundry is calling my name. Been lazy as ever...back to upper 90's. Take care everyone 😊

Share1222, he played a song with a name something like 'Coming Around Again', (by one of the owlbox songwriters), and then he said something like, You Never KNow When.. this is not an exact quote, and I didn't hear it, just am quoting from what others have said who heard it.. so this does give some hope for future broadcasts 😊

FYI : There are a number of ways to keep and stay in touch about owls, or even about Molly & McGee. This chat will stay open, and there are other owl sites here at Sportsman's Paradise.

Or look up SPO-MOD Support Group & Coffee House on facebook and join as we keep updated about various animal webcams. Molly the Owl also has a facebook page.

Or sign up on Carlos' blog to be emailed each time he updates it. To do that go to the link above the video that says "Click Here" for more info about the camera. Find the blog link and click on that. Then go to any blog entry and click on "Comments". Make a comment and enter you email address and mark the box for "notification of updates".

Hi, folks. I was out and missed the send off. I have been looking to see if Carlos recorded it but can't find anything. I see Barb O'Brien's short final video but that is all I found. If anyone finds a recording I'd love to see it.

There will still be chatters here and around SPO, so feel free to check back in. Take care! 😊

I hate to say goodbye to the owlbox, to Molly and McGee, and all of their offspring. I will miss visiting the box. Good luck to Carlos and Donna, and to Austin as they go out into the world in search of other endeavors. I will always love the Owl Box experience.

Never signed out earlier! I'll bid you adieu and thanks for the memories. I know I already said some words at check-in but... Back in the golden days of the 1st clutch, this experience helped me through some lingering postpartum. The knowledge I take with me from all the fun/games/relationships & computer wizardry will carry no expiration (barring a possible fuzzy mind in my own golden yrs). Thanks for being my companions & friends on this journey...better than a road trip any day. I couldn't have gotten through some days without you. Love to some special peeps! Each person was important to the whole experience, each brought something different just as each friend brings something different to our "real lives". 'Twas a hard reality to know for certain that a particular wintry figure was not even lurking on this final night, hard.

Goodnight one last time.

Tonight is so hard. It was so good to hear Carlos' voice. No one in my family understands what M & M and their babies mean to me. But all of you do. I just now came back to the chat tonight. I have been a mess like many of you.

Maybe, it's because many of us are Mothers. We are daughters. We know the love and protectiveness we feel. But also the hope of success for our babies. We are all a part of Nature's hopes as Mothers. And, we know the desire to provide well that her mate brings. Their lives are short and compressed, unlike ours. They find a mate and give it their all. My heart is breaking; but I know I'm not alone. It's the Mother in all of us that is grieving.

In addition to Carlos, Donna and Austin; I want to thank all those who shot photo and video of Molly, McGee and the owlets. I still think Molly and McGee are the most beautiful barn owl I've seen and were wonderful parents. Their offspring are the most beautiful and had the most distinctive and unique behaviors. I still watch the Ashley and Carrie videos every few weeks. All of this was magic...the MODS, the friendship of the chat, the encouragement so many of us received during rough times.

Molly was no ordinary barn owl.

I've watched these birds for so long now. When Molly was hatching her first egg, I was trying to figure out twin infants (and a 4 yr old). Just about the time that they started sitting in their high chairs to eat, the owlets were at their best. We watched them while eating breakfast (among other times). One of their first words was "owwww!" and they knew that owls didn't say "whooh" all the time, they also say, "AAACCCCHHHH!!!! AAAAACCCCHHHH!!!!" It got to the point that they would ask for them if I didn't already have the laptop on the table (and they still love owls and the Molly video). They loved the Molly song and I loved watching eager elementary students ask a very patient Carlos the same questions over and over. And he always obliged with a "That's a great question!" It took me an entire summer to hem and apply buttons to a blouse I had sewn because I got sucked into the late night chat - a time previously reserved for sewing. I wrote stupid haikus. I delivered snark. I laughed til I cried at all of the funny people here and sat spellbound whenever there would be activity in the box. I have made numerous friends that I will keep all of my days and, sadly, have lost a brother from another mother. The days of Molly and McGee are special in so many ways, and I will fondly remember them - especially the early, so very innocent days. It was a profoundly memorable time in my life, and I hope that Molly and McGee and Co. and Carlos and Co all realize how much they've touched the world with their little wooden box. Oh, that we all can be such a positive force in the universe..... Peace, owl friends. 😊

Lynn, after you talking about ice cream I had to have some. So when the screen went black I went and got myself two ice cream sandwiches. I ate both of them up like I was stressed over this whole thing. I'm saddened like everyone else. I'll see you all around from time to time. Thank you for always being so nice to me. It was a long time before I ever wrote anything on here. I'm feeling alot more comfortable saying things finally. (Now that the screen is gone) So hugs to you and everyone else on here who has been kind. I'm really going to miss those two sweat owls. I'm going to read down the page and then hit the sack. We had to put my mother inlaw in a rest home a few months back and that has been keeping me going. I'm tired. Goodnight and owl dreams.

Just wanted to say thanks to all the MOD's who I have shared the M&M experience with. I learned so much about nature and also a lot about human nature too. Thought I would share some captures from last evening since we will not be able to watch McGee come home to the owl box or see them together. With hearing Carlos' last words as the camera went dark, we can all share hope on the future of seeing M&M. I've just lurked for last several months but wanted you all to know I've been with you and have been saving photos and reading the love shared in good times and in times of sadness too. Like others have said, being here has helped so much on not so good days. Not saying goodbye, once a MOD always a MOD I think. And we MOD's just can't help ourselves sometimes and will lurk even if we can't always chat... 😊

I think Carlos will be like Brett Farve. He'll retire four or five times. He's only used two so far 😊 😊

Well, folks, it's been fun...it's been educational...it's been emotional. I will certainly miss Molly & McGee and all their offspring, but I will also miss reading about all the happenings in the lives of the wonderful people that I have shared this great experience with. I'm sure we will all meet again learning about other wildlife in other parts of the world. Isn't it great that we can get together like this. A huge THANK YOU to Carlos, Donna and their family for sharing their owl box and their lives with us, and thanks to all of you for sharing your lives as well. Bye for now...til we meet again!!!

Evidently Ustream owl box is going down completely.. he said the social stream and chat were going down.. wonder if SPO will close it out too... or maybe put something else in it's place? Well can't blame them for wanting to go and enjoy their lives.. that's what life is for... too bad they didn't have a big family that lived there and could keep it going while they were gone. Time to move on I guess..... glad I had a LOT of tissues handy...

While many have already thanked Carlos, Donna and Austin, a big thanks from me to all of the wonderful people who are here in the chat tonight and to so many more who aren't. Without the chat, the Molly & McGee experiences would not have been the same - no one here to share their knowledge, no one here to share a laugh or shed a tear with, no one here to share the joy of happenings in the owl box or a celebration in our own lives, no one here with a hug and a kind word to help us through personal sadness and pain, etc. Thanks to each and every one of you again. Happy trails and I'll see you around 😊

We only had minor effects from Irene, Barbara. Lots and lots of rain, some flooding of small streams & rivers with washed out roads and some bridges. We only lost power for about 24 hours. It was nothing compared to what others experienced all the way up the Eastern seaboard and in Vermont. I'll be around on other sites - Phoebe the hummer should be back in late October with her first clutch of the season. I'll be back to the loon chat in early May and I can most often be found in the Decorah eagle chat. The eaglets have fledged, but will be looking for nest rebuilding in Dec. to Feb. and eggs there in February.

I have to agree... By the looks of Molly's home, she's preparing for about five wee ones in the near future... Blessings to all and to all from here just miles from San Marcos, goodnight and I will lurk around often just for a cup of coffee with all of you.... When I look back and feel the full impact of how God has blessed me with beautiful birds especially, oh so many stories to tell, I don't think it was just by some slim chance that He brought me Molly in March 2010 as I was beginning my chemotherapy..... I will always hold all of you in a special place in my heart.. Be Blessed and I will catch up often..

Okay Ellie, do you think I should wait to order my DVD from Austin? I have had my second clutch book here for weeks and didn't open it hoping I would have the last one signed, but I don't. Just opened it after the camera went off.

Now I'll wait until I really miss them to open my mugs from Eric; Molly for me and McGee for DH.

I'm in the same mood as everyone.....waiting for the camera to go dark. I have enjoyed all the pictures that have been posted today and it put me on a mission to see if I had anything to share today. In searching the files, I came across this poem from Gail in Louisiana that I feel is very appropriate. With luck I can transfer it in the post, if not I will type it in. Love ya all to bits.....barb BTW: don't forget that Utube has all those wonderful voice-over videos that CAR did for the HORK and that we all loved so much.

Let me drag out the first image I used when I started chatting during Ashley & Carrie's reign.

Here I was thinking surely Carlos would be back in the winter when they have their next clutch, but he sure sounds like it's final 😞

I'm glad that we've had the chance to see McGee in the last few weeks -- he's not just leggs McGee, he's a real handsome sweetheart to our Molly.

See you all at Dale & Roy's, then back around at Mel & Syd when they have their next clutch.

Until then, Happy Trails! 😊

I came in late this evening, did Carlos ever explain what his plans are and where he will be and for how long? I just hope he has a great time wherever he is and whatever he does. He deserves it so much.

Dear Friends and dear Carlos and Donna and dear Molly and McGee and dear Austin and all the Mods, how endless is this liist?..... Thank you for a marvelous experience. We will have a very large void in our lives, but we have our memories don't we. Do you remember the wonderful quote "We'll always have Paris"? Well folks, "We'll always have San Marcos"....it cannot be taken away from us.

Good luck and joy and happiness is wished by me to all of you.

I'll be seein' you.

Hope you're all feeling well for the years to come

Donna we've missed your special face

We saw you at the picnic you are full of grace

Please come on the camera you've been the strength

Behind that funny man, gone to many great lengths

We love you we bless you and will keep you in our prayers.

Loving Greetings to everyone! I haven't been on chat in a long time but have been watching and reading daily. How I will miss seeing our dear Molly and McGee! Watching them raise their beautiful owlets and getting to know and care so much about all of you shall remain a treasure in my life. I'm glad the chat will go on for the dear friendships will continue to flourish. I'll keep hope in my heart that we'll see our beloved Molly and McGee again, and dear Carlos as well! Love and prayers to all of you!

I can't add much to what's already been said. Molly and McGee have been a staple of my days and evenings ever since the middle of the 2nd clutch, when Brian Williams featured the Owlbox on the evening news. The chat has been compelling beyond imagination, a marvel of our present age. I'd have been hard put to forecast how important it's become, as we've laughed, cried and shared deeply. It's been wonderful...therapeutic. Thank you ALL.

I'm so glad that some who have lurked are posting, tonight. You've been part of this, too, I know. Thank you for you.

All of you whom I've come to know...Thank you, thank you, thank you. Thanks for all the sharing, tonight, especially. I hope to see most of you on the other sites, or perhaps on a dawn safari in Africa...or when the hummingbirds are nesting, again...as we watch the "leap of faith" for a series of wood duck families.

Love to all of you...the posters and the lurkers. It's been grand!

I didn't get to see Max, Patison, Austin and baby Wesley hatch/ The first time I logged on, there was a cacophony of noise and I thought "What in the world?..." These little owls saved me for almost the entire year my husband was working 150 miles away, coming home every other weekend. They saved me when I was diagnosed with Parkinson's. I want to wish all of my MOD friends happiness and love and good fortune always. I can't write haiku but I love those who did; I can't paint, knit, quilt, cook much, garden or take hikes, but I have all the beautiful memories! God love you all! Love, Karen

More than a few shots of Molly from a bit ago and of course Poley and Mr. Bolty. Then the last 2, McGee and Molly kissing and a shot of the owlbox on one of the beautiful evenings in San Marcos. I'm going to sign off now. Loved seeing all the old MODS here and some of the newer ones. We've learned so much from watch M & M, but most of all we've learned to respect each other's feelings. On a sad note, I so miss the one person who made so many great videos of M&M and their babies. I'm posting the fairwell video again for all of you.....Be kind to each other, always. Luv your gutz. 😊 for those that haven't seen this, enjoy.

What fun it's been! I've been here since the beginning and loved every minute of it. I just scrolled down towards the basement and I love seeing all the colorful pictures when people click "like" or comment. It's been a colorful experience for sure. Watching Carlos with his live chats, singing along with the Molly song, staying up way too late, sitting way too long, etc., etc. !! I will miss everything about this interesting event. 😊😊😊

Dearest Molly and McGee...

You have no idea the lives you have changed since you chose Carlos and Donna's owl box to raise your family... I will never forget you and thank you for enriching my life and bringing such a caring, wonderful group of people together. It has been a wonderful experience and I wish you and yours all the best forever... Love, Annie

I have so many happy fun memories here, especially with the first clutch. Waiting each night for Wesley to finally take the big step out. Worrying the first time Molly spent the day out of the box that she was OK and learning that it was normal. Dear James advising us all on how to fix our PC's and telling us to stop worrying. Carlos and Donna live! Carlos is one of a kind I will miss him too! Leggs McGee. Goodbye for now Molly and McGee and see the rest of you at Roy and Dale's or Mel and Syd's 😊

Just as Molly & McGee has become a part of my family, so have each and everyone of you that have consistently posted. I am proud to be a MOD. Thank you all, including Carlos, Donna, Austin and especially M&M for a wonderful experience. God Bless. I hope that Carlos will keep us updated on the owl box from time to time with maybe a peek. Hello M & M lovers. I have been here since the very beginning. At that time, I never would have thought that I would love owls so very much. Then came the chat room. I never was part of any chat room. After a while I began to join in the chat. What a wonderful group of caring individuals. We have been through so much together, it is like a family. When you try to explain this to your family and friends.....you get the "look". My hubby understands, because I keep him updated at times. I have learned so much from all of you with your postings. Love to everyone in this chat room. We will have so many memories of our favorite owl family in our hearts forever. God Bless the Royal family, Molly, McGee and their beautiful owl family. Love ya all.....Tea

Hard to believe it's been 1 1/2 years since I discovered this box and it's contents AND it's friendly viewers. Time flies as fast as owls...sneaks up on ya like a raptor/predator. Learned a LOT here, was kept company by so many & was helped through a few tough times. I loved the community that was built & the sense of belonging. Now, if only I had copied all the recipes to all the yummy things, hadn't gained unwanted owl-cam weight, and friends hadn't been lost along the way, this would have been a perfect experience. I'm so glad I found them AND you. An incomparable experience, it was! Thanks for the memories...'twas magical...

Good evening. Just stopped by to share the closing down of the cam and to reacquaint with so many familiar names and avatars. 😊 It's been a while, but I have so many good memories of the first and second clutches. Everything I ever knew about barn owls was learned right here. I had some wonderful teachers and I see many of them here tonight. Molly is just as beautiful as ever and your screen shots of McGee this morning are just as I remember him.

Good evening, everyone! This is the first time I've had a chance to check the box since early this morning, when I got a chance to see the two of them in the box together. I'm so glad we got to see Molly one more time. I'm going to miss these two, but I'm hopeful that Carlos will decide to turn the camera on again next year. What comforts me is the thought they'll be in here in the box again tomorrow. Somehow it doesn't feel as sad as when he turned off the box before Carrie had fully fledged. I was so worried about her. I feel good about M&M.

Greetings from Wisconsin, cloudy and 70 degrees. Tomorrow is to be heat wave and almost 90! Thank you all for being such wonderful online friends. For all the laughs and all the tears, for all the pics and all the poems, for all the recipes and all the computer help. But what was the most important part was sharing the joy of Owls, I thought I knew alot about them before coming to this chatroom but my knowledge was but a drop in the bucket. I have learned so very much about owls. I have to express my gratitude and gratefulness for all the support and comforting words during Larry's sudden illness and his sudden passing. I came here many a nights looking for comfort and I found tons of it. The memorial given when Larry passed was beautiful. I was so pleased. The cameras may go dark but our memories will always be on and bright. We will all meet again sometime somewhere. There are lots of owl cams. So this is not a goodbye but a "see Ya" 😊

Hi all! I'll probably be mostly lurking tonight, but wanted to say hello, and it's so good to see everyone. I will never forget March 17, 2010 when I came to this site for the first time and looked into beautiful Molly's eyes. I was instantly in love. And then I finally got up the nerve to type in a question and start conversing with the people in this room. You, my friends, have been the most wonderful added bonus! Fly free and live long, sweet Molly and handsome Leggs McGee. Raise more beautiful babies. I carry you all with me in my heart! It really was magic in a bottle, and gee it was fun and I was part of it!

Hello. I heard tell thru the owl grapevine (or would that be the mimosa 😊) about the cam being shut off tonight.

I haven't really gotten to watch much this time, since I have no discipline when watching, etc.... Reading below it sounds so wonderful for those of you who have glimpsed Molly and McGee as couple sans eggs and squawking, snoring owlets. Does that mean sans "vermin fur toe jam," too? (that's from a James haiku, by the way, that stuck in my head). Sure do miss him.

Nice to see everyone, and maybe one day I'll get on Facebook 😊

Hi Diana! Been around, just dealing with the extreme heat again. 108 today! We hit the 50 day mark of 100 and over. Matched the Dust Bowl Days and will pass it for the next 3 days. Bummed, but totally understand. We have memories, experience, fun, laughter and each other. 😊

Molly looks so beautiful standing up so straight. Her wings are out a bit to help keep her cooled off. Started here at the end of the 1st clutch and stayed through the second. I learned so much about the days and the nights of the owl way. I also learned a lot about people.

It's been a long time since I watched intently enough to need a split screen! Tonight I've got the chat, the cam and the potplant owl too! Nice. Feels like old times. Of course, that means I'm not getting anything else done, but I guess that's OK too.

How do you do that?

Yesterday, 6:32:26 PM – Flag – Like – Reply

Owlosaurus

There are downloadable programs that let you do it but I think it's easiest to just open 3 windows and make them each a size that fits. However you open an internet window, just do that two more times and click the little icon in the top right corner that makes it less than full screen size. Then put your cursor over one corner, click and drag to resize it. Windows Help will show you exactly how to do that if you don't know.

Also, after you have the windows open that you want (not tabs, but separate windows) you can right click in the bottom task bar and select "stack windows."

My words of Thanks also to James Hill. I was a newbie here, I do remember the "JH" and on occasions "The Snowman". But being new to a chat....Duh! Didn't know one in the same! From all your condolences for him in the recent past, I Thankfully got to see his "Eye". I have saved the photos you posted of his. The depth of pain he must have been feeling only he would know how to quell.

I'll be mostly lurking tonight.

Watching our sweet owls and reading your posts.

Happy to see so many familiar names and avatars.

Missing the ones who aren't here.

Sad beyond words that James isn't with us.

Enjoying the memories and old screen shots.

Sound muted, as usual, because I never could stand those songs! LOL

I think Carlos' business with the owl cam is done, but I could be wrong.

Whatever he decides, I'm happy to have had the experience.

Happy to have shared it with some great MODS.

How wonderful to see you back as Owlo, Kate. One of the first posts that I remember was from you. You were explaining that Molly makes "that machine gun noise" to convince the owlets to eat. I don't know why that stuck with me, but it did.

(H)OWL---OSAURUS

(with serious apologies to Allen Ginsberg!)

I saw the best minds on the internet obsessed by owlets, intrigued long into the night, dragging themselves through dark hallways to their computers at dawn, looking for an early fix; dedicated owlsters longing for one more flight of McGee, that feathery dynamo in the machinery of night.

Skeleton Treasures flung into the corner - no one's safe in the animal soup of the owlbox.

Owly, Owly, Owly! Every owl's an angel!

There are a number of ways to keep and stay in touch about owls, or even about Molly & McGee. This chat will stay open, and there are other owl sites here at Sportsman's Paradise.

Or look up SPO-MOD Support Group & Coffee House on facebook and join as we keep updated about various animal webcams.

Or sign up on Carlos' blog to be emailed each time he updates it. To do that go to the link above the video that says "Click Here" for more info about the camera. Find the blog link and click on that. Thehn go to any blog entry and click on "Comments". Make a comment and enter you email address and mark the box for "notification of updates".

Oh is this really the end? What an amazing experience here at M&M's owl box. What fun, what knowledge, what great people, and what beautiful owls! When I first came here it was before Wesley hatched. I didn't know anything about the site just that a friend had told me about it. Didn't know about Carlos, or the chat at first. I was just watching the baby owls. Then one day Carlos came on and I was startled thinking who is this? And he started as usual "This is Carlos Royal coming to you from the owl box San Marcos California"...something I have since heard many, many times! We are all so lucky to have been here for this experience..."It was fun and I am glad I was part of it." Adios Carlos and happy trails to you and Donna!! 😊😄😁

Watching the caring ways and the personalities evolve- up to fledge, and then - to do it all over again.

Such beautiful creatures!

I was upset when I looked at the time because I'm having company for dinner and a big bunch of stuff to do before they get here which is in about 20 mins!!! Arrrrrrghhh! But you gave me a reprieve. I'll see you later on our site and say goodbye. I hope Carlos will be on even for a brief farewell. Molly and McGee are definitely our favorites, but let's not forget that Roy and Dale are lovingly raising 3 owlets and we have a window into their lives as well. I agree with YTQ about Molly's babes being more active (full of p_ss and vinegar as my dad would say) and were a riot to watch. Whether active and silly, or quiet and huddled together in a ball of feathers, we can send our positive energy their way and love them just as much. 😊 And, they give us all another place to meet and talk owl talk.

Why can't we get all the people together in the world that we really like and then just stay together? I guess that wouldn't work. Someone would leave. Someone always leaves. Then we would have to say good-bye. I hate good-byes. I know what I need. I need more hellos. ~Charles M. Schulz

I like that saying. It reminds me of an old friend of mine years ago was going to Vietnam and he told me as I was crying and he had to leave that second he said

"Without Goodby's there would be no Hello's". I'm glad he came back ok, because I married him 42 yrs ago. Molly & McGee & Carlos and his family gave us allot of happy hours here. Which I am thankful. Like I was telling Lynn I am hoping and praying that maybe Carlos will turn them back on in Jan. There is always hope. Take care, and thanks for sharing.

Lynn, CBECK, Lois, I think we are all very emotional today and that is a good thing; it means we have big hearts especially for Molly and McGee. It is very hard to spend a year and a half so involved in the lives of these beautiful creatures and not "mourn" losing them. I'm sure that we all have met someone in our lives who does not show their emotions or concern for something we think is important; and we tend to look at them and not understand how they can be so cold. There have been times I've even given DH a piece of my mind when he doesn't react like I think he should.

😊😂. Better to be like us, we'll earn heaven points for all the love we share. Love ya all to bits.....barb

Me, too. It does seem more abrupt and final than ever before. But he did make it seem to varying degrees that it was done before and then start broadcasting again later when the mood struck. That's what I'm hoping for. I get it that not a lot is going on right now, the holidays are coming, and such. But Carlos does like to broadcast and stuff, and, let's be frank, Austin still has some schoolin' to pay for. Yes? I'm cautiously hopeful and miserable at the thought that this is the last time I might ever see M&M.

I never was part of any chat room. After a while I began to join in the chat. What a wonderful group of caring individuals. We have been through so much together, it is like a family. When you try to explain this to your family and friends.....you get the "look". My hubby understands, because I keep him updated at times. I have learned so much from all of you with your postings. Love to everyone in this chat room. We will have so many memories of our favorite owl family in our hearts forever. God Bless the Royal family, Molly, McGee and their beautiful owl family. After reading Carlos last blog for today, he is shutting everything down at 6 PM, chat room, camera, and the social stream, so I guess it is final. I have made a promise to myself to be really careful and not get so attached to the owls anymore. It has become a habit to check this site first and see M&M and read all the news from all of you. I do wish Carlos & Donna all the best and many thanks to them for one of the great times in my life. Also thanks to M&M for sharing their families with us and letting us see them raise their little ones, there was so many great moments to enjoy. One never knows with Carlos. It will probably be shut down at least until 2012, but who knows what the new year will bring? Well, now I can't find Mollie's post. Anyway, I could be wrong about the chat not being shut down before. But many of the other webcams often shutdown the chat during the off seasons, so I don't think that in itself means he will never return. I just don't see Carlos as a "Never" kind of guy. Everything is always an open possibility to him. Just my opinion.

Well, finally time for a shower!! I too will be lurking in and out throughout the day... so glad the temps are coming down for our precious Molly.. She is the perfect picture of contentment... Peace just flows all over her and the cooler temps will be great. Hoping her handsome knight shows up before the "lights go out".

Everytime I see our peaceful Molly I think of this poem. For those who are sad, more good stuff will come. Keep your heart open. 😊

The Peace of Wild Things
by

Wendell Berry

When despair grows in me and I wake in the middle of the night at the least sound in fear of what my life and my children's lives may be,

I go and lie down where the wood drake rests in his beauty on the water, and the great heron feeds.

I come into the peace of wild things who do not tax their lives with forethought of grief.
I come into the presence of still water.

And I feel above me the day-blind stars waiting for their light.
For a time
I rest in the grace of the world, and am free.

Hi everyone!

It's been a very busy summer and I've peeked in most days to see our owls. Sorry to hear today is the last day, but I also am grateful for the time we've had. I'm guessing when (and IF) M&M have another clutch that we may see them again. Carlos and Donna have given a lot of their time and effort to bring this to us all and they need a break. My gut says they'll be back again....hey, Carlos loves to put on a show and Austin needs to pay for school ;o)....the combination is almost a guarantee. Love to you all, to the Royals and to our feathered friends.... 😊

Just feeling a bit low, I had hoped to catch one more glimpse of Molly and McGee this morning. They don't know it, but they will be missed by so many of us, the loyal MODs of San Marcos. I somehow feel that this is really not the end, and we have not seen the last of the Great American Lovers.

It is entirely understandable that Carlos and Donna do have a life and put in their situation, not many of us would want to spend every day, every hour, adjusting cameras and devoting all your time to the owls.

So Donna and Carlos, have joy and relaxation at wherever you are doing now and thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the wonderful story you have unfolded for us the past couple of years. It has been nothing short of remarkable, memorable and you gave us the opportunity what's more, to make some very fine friends along the way.

We all wish you well .

Goodmorning EveryOne and EveryOwl!

I'm so glad I was here at the beginning and glad I was able to be here last night too. The affection and tenderness between Molly and McGee was especially touching yesterday evening knowing it was probably the last time we would get to see them. I'm sure I will be seeing all of you around the other wildlife chats though, and that's a good thing in the midst of the sadness about losing this cam.

I won't be able to watch much today, but I'll be back this evening for one last look.

Hello early birds....not such a "Good morning" for many of us on this site. I have been here since the very beginning. At that time, I never would have thought that I would love owls so very much. Then came the chat room. I never was part of any chat room. After a while I began to join in the chat. What a wonderful group of caring individuals. We have been through so much together, it is like a family. When you try to explain this to your family and friends.....you get the "look". My hubby understands, because I keep him updated at times. I have learned so much from all of you with your postings. Love to everyone in this chat room. We will have so many memories of our favorite owl family in our hearts forever. God Bless the Royal family, Molly, McGee and their beautiful owl family. Love ya all.....Tea

Good morning all Mods here, well this is the place where this magic carpet ride all began an we all learned so much about our friends the owls and the famous Molly the common barn owl and her mate leggs McGee, and formed new friendships with friends all over the country and the world.. Glad I got to be apart of this, and got to meet so many new people here in the chat room and learn so much about all of you and your lives too. We've lost a few , too many friends along the journey, but the faithful have remained here with Carlos, Donna, and Austin, throughout whatever they chose to let us share and I'm very glad and happy for what they have shared with all us. Hope they both Molly and McGee will return to the owl box one last time so we can all say goodbye to them both today, was glad that I got to see Our Beautiful Molly yesterday Hope you all will come over to Roy and Dale's after the cameras go dark here at Molly's and McGee's.. Wishing you all a good day. 😊😊😊😊

Good morning everyone...had to come over for the last day 😞 I rarely posted here but lurked most of the time. I "found" Molly at the beginning of second clutch and loved her. I remember watching Ashley and Carrie when they fledged and sat in tears...happy and sad! It will be sad not to see her and McGee but we know they'll be around and who knows, we may see them again if circumstances allow. Although I love R&D and their clutch, I'll never forget Molly and McGee, I learnt so much. Will try and be here later for one last time 😞

Good morning Trish, I too found our Molly and McGee during the second clutch. I dearly fell in love at first sight and little Carrie stole my heart and I cried like a baby when she took that final flight away from the box, I hope all of Molly and McGees owlets are all doing well out in the wild and I'll always hold these two owls, Molly and McGee dear to my heart forever. I've had a thing for owls for a big part of my life and think they are one of the greatest creatures God has put on earth and magical and enchanting and I so glad I found them and all of you Mods. ☺ good morning , well here it is the last day with molly and mcgee, I see molly is in for the night, her colours are something else so beautiful . I would like to see mcgee,

I have not seen him for a few days, it must be the time difference, I am in bed when he is around . I am so glad I had this time with two special owls . Buddy Holly sang it, but its raining, raining in my heart . ☹

There is a Ringling Circus in town this week starting Thursday. It's well known of the way they torture animals to make them perform (don't believe me; I have solid evidence from sanctuaries). They do a Parade past the elementary school in the most poor area of Moline, IL..my town...and give away tickets to these children.

I am going to a protest on opening night on Thursday. I may be the only old lady there; but I won't back down. The Circus Train is rolling by my apt tonight. And, I hear the animals, stuck in railroad cars, calling out. Please, never support a circus or a roadside zoo. These animals were stolen from their Mothers and have a life of torture. OK. Off the soapbox.

Marilee, I don't totally disagree with you but if not for them handing out tickets to these children some of them would never see any of these animals. It's not just the circus and/or roadside zoos that have problems; there has been problems with our zoo system in many cities. Yet without the good that is done with zoos like San Diego, ?Cleveland?, and the National Zoo, many animals that were on the endangered list and close to extinction would not be around now. We have to some times look at both sides of the situations individually; where would the white tiger be if not for the breeding programs of Siegfried and Roy? My son is a vet and sometimes works at the Cape May Zoo in NJ and has done some health check-ups on tiger cubs from a show in Atlantic City, he works very hard to keep all animals safe and healthy. barb

Good evening everyone.

I got home from work about an hour ago.

Had me a bowl of cheerios and some toast.

Gee whiz. Another hour it's gonna be time for bed.

Hope everyone is doing good here this evening.

It's so sad that this time tomorrow the camera will be off. 😞

I must get off early from work tomorrow. That's all there is to it.

I was hoping Molly and or McGee would still be in the box.

They were when I first got home an hour ago.

Being able to watch them in the nest box together this summer has really been a gift. We didn't have this knowledge of them before because most of what we saw was Molly caring for eggs and owlets and McGee stopping by with food and a few moments of bonding. We didn't get to see much of this affection and preening. They are so obviously a couple and seeing this makes it easier to understand McGee's multiple deliveries of rodents even on cold, rainy nights. This is his mate and his family. His devotion and dedication is even more personal now because we've seen them together.

First I started posting old pictures, so I suppose it's a natural progression to go to the owl poems next. Here's the first one I wrote for them. Dates back to March 2010 I think. I changed a couple words to update it.

A GIFT SO RARE

Oh look! For here we have the fearsome pair
Known well to us as Molly and McGee.
They gave us all a gift so very rare:
The chance to watch owls living wild and free.

Their saga started earlier last year
When mated hearts were touched by Nature's Hand.
They chose a home so comfy and so dear
On Carlos' camera laden owlbox stand.

McGee brought food while Molly calmly stayed
As millions watched their precious little batch;
Upon soft down and rabbit fur she laid.
Oh when, we asked, will these eggs every hatch?

We can't believe that this could be our folly:

This passion for the family of Molly!

Molly and McGee

Just bidding time till my knight arrives
I can always hear him in the heavenly skies
He comes on wings no other owl can boast
Their beauty astounds me, more than most

Tonight we take our final flight
Together forever today, tonight
And all you MODS don't shed a tear
Remember that we are always near

Close to your heart as it beats with time
Us owls we listen to a voice sublime
It's God above that gave a reason
To give you love for this special season

For though we are creations made to clean
A planet so precious for all to glean
We brought you smiles and sometimes tears
But remember this through all the years

Each of you have a special gift
His hand is extended to give us a lift
Seek His face when troubles come
The Father has you covered from dusk till dawn

Under His wings you can find your peace
Trust in Him and share your lease
The special talents will all come out
As you think of our owls and give a shout!

right click on it, then choose "copy image URL". Then, when you open a box here, click on "add images," and, then, "choose file." Once that box opens, right click in it and click on "paste," and then on "open" (right below the field). May take a bit to load, but it should.... Good luck--I'd love to see the pillow!

Chat rules are posted at the bottom of the page - there is a link there. This is mostly an un-moderated chat, but the folks who run the site have an automated system lease we all help police the site and Hunting Fishing (site rep) comes on from time to time to moderate.

tielfeathers, we have strict rules about this chat, we have chatters as young as twelve years old and Sportsman's Paradise has a code of conduct. The site is watched over and anything inappropriate will be flagged by chatters and removed by our guardian angel H/F. Please join us, we would love to have you here but please remember we have been able to take pride in our friendships here since March of 2010. barb

We don't know if it is forever or not. It is probably at least until there is another clutch which would be 2012. This is what he posted on the blog.

It is time the owl box becomes a memory as we move on to new events and adventures in our life. We will be turning off The Owl Box at 6 PM PDT 8-31-11. We are letting you know in advance so you can say your good byes to all your owl box friends. We have had a great time and we hope you have too. The blog and all the websites will remain active.

Note: SPO controls this chat, not Carlos. He controls the one at U-stream. So this chat is not being turned off by Carlos, just the video feed.

Just like many of you (I'm lookin' at you, Lynn LOL) I've been a sad and crying fan and losing M & M for us is a really hard thing. I'll surely lurk and chat at other sites when this closes. But this will always be so special, having such a close up look at natural behavior....beautiful, sad and darn triumphant for Tauntz!

And, the loving Royal family will always be in my heart. I will miss his voice and enthusiasm so much. You can't be sad when you heard his happiness...and he devoted so much time, money and love for us.

Just want to tell all my MOD friends that we have made it to Albuquerque...in the motel room and DOG TIRED...but I am smiling and so happy to be out of Phoenix...I feel like I've been let out of prison...LOL..

I guess I'll have to find someplace else to tell you what is happening. Will be allowed to chat on the other sites? They are all so different, I sometimes don't know if and what I can say...

Anyway...getting started was the hardest thing I've ever done...but I felt all of your positive thoughts and prayers coming my way and I did it...
 Let me know where we are all going to be after this...

Molly...there will never, ever be another YOU!!! I understand why Carlos is shutting it down...but I don't like it and feel heartbroken by it. He gave her to us...I guess he has the right to take her away...Still...I love him, Donna, Austin...everyone involved...it was fun and I was a part of it.

Molly looks so beautiful today. I sure will miss seeing Molly & McGee. I love them both, but I particularly enjoyed seeing so much of McGee in the past few weeks. I started watching during the second clutch, and only saw McGee as a quick flash in the night, always in black and white. It was wonderful to see him in full color when he spent the day in the box, either with Molly or alone.

Like everyone else, I hope that we'll see them again some day.

Hello everybody, I'm home from swimming and temperature here is 80. That feels so good. Molly looks a little thin today. I guess she is getting more exercise at night. I was thinking about when Carlos first started this he set it up for his family and a few friends. He never planned for this to become what it is. As much as he enjoyed it, I'm sure he has other plans also to enjoy his retirement. I thank him for the memories. This has been great, and was part of it. I wish Donna and Carlos the best. I will miss Molly and McGee for sure, but I will assume they are in the palm tree enjoying the California breeze or out hunting. Just think, they are probably grandparents by now.

I have been with you all also... My hubby and I made it to the picnic... have the photos for "memories". Carlos, Donna & Austin were very nice. We couldn't believe that we would show up, freezing, pouring rain and me just having been through chemo (yuk) yet, all in all had a great time, and chatting with all of you has been great!! I wrote many poems, guess I'll try to put together one for tonight... hugs to you all. The photo on my avatar is my two little humming bird babies that were born this spring. Hope was born on my b-day (June 10) and Faith born two days later. They were in my camillia (sp?) bush so right at photo level, God knows I love my birds! 😊, Lynn, I've been crying like a baby off an on all morning!! 😞😞 I'm just so sad about not being able to see them anymore...I know we all knew this was going to happen again eventually and I'm so grateful to Carlos and Donna for giving us all the time we had with them...but this time probably more than ever before, I've just gotten so attached to them and this site. And even though I never have a lot of time to sit and chat...I'm always peeking and know what's going on with this beautiful couple and with everyone here....and I know we will all go to other sites and chat, but there is something so comforting about coming here and just watching them sway in the box and cuddle with each other. No matter what else is going on in our lives and in the world this was a comforting escape.....Like someone else said...even if the box was empty during the day...we just knew they would be back at dusk....I loved when they were both in the box together all day and then watching them fly off into the sunset at night.....you just always knew they were here.....

He just said it's time. He doesn't have Austin there to help, now that he's in school, and Carlos and Donna want to travel like they planned to do last summer. When he had thousands of viewers he couldn't let go, but now there are often less than 200 viewers. It probably is time; none of us want to be watching the day something happens and Molly or McGee don't return to the nest box. Turning the cameras off now leaves us with the beautiful image of a happy, healthy owl couple. I will imagine them like this forever. 😊

I'm so glad we get to see her today!

For those of you looking for pictures and images of our special owls, don't forget that you can go to youtube.com and do a search for "Molly the Owl" or "Molly Royal" or "SirCarlosR". Lots of great videos there. You can also go to google.com, click on 'images' at the top of the page and search for Molly the Owl. There are 284 people on this cam right now, but at one point there were 17,000 people taking pictures and videos! We may not be able to see her live anymore but she'll live forever on the internet.

Good Morning all!!! Well, looks like we might get a "peek" tomorrow morning of the two of them... The temps in San Marcos are going to be in the 80's so it won't be extreme heat... I believe she will be in the box from now on.... Well, it's been great knowing that there will be little ones on the way again.. It's been a fun year and a half! Blessings to all today and I guess we will say our good-bye's in the morning.. Don't drink too many iced coffee's today! 😊

yes, they are both in and out of the nest at night...and sometimes stay in the box together thru the day...but owls sleep thru each day and wake when it gets dark and roost somewhere when it gets light...they are just sleeping in separate places today...maybe we'll get lucky and they will both sleep in the box tomorrow... 😊

I sure am going to miss my first owl loves. Well DH saved the hot water heaters and the furnace....he wins the bailing award. Thank you again for your prayers and concern. Dh went to work today...he was bailing until around dinnertime last night. In between we put the mountain of porch stuff back. So I am pooped today....I am just going to sit here and love up Molly....see y'owl later.....deet.....deet.... 😊

Berylann - please choose to be found, not lost! There are countless other wildlife cams here and some are delightful. You'll see many familiar faces. Go to the top of the page and click on Live Wildlife Webcams; that's where you'll find links to all the other SPO cams. Check out the other barn owl cams, the Decorah eagles, the humming birds and even the African cams. We'll have new African Eagle owls to watch on the Potted Plant Owls cams, soon to be up here at SPO. Many of us check several cams a day, just to be sure we aren't missing something and we would love to have you join us!

I have to say "good night" for now. Have an early morning appt. Probably won't sleep well, but I'm gonna give it a try. I'm coming here as often as I possibly can before it's "Light's Out". I bet this is a very emotional thing for them to dis-connect from us.....they all gave so much of themselves to the owls and to us.

I think the reason we all got the dis-connect news from the blog is that Carlos does have a deep connection to all of us...not as individuals, but as lovers of Nature; and it must be emotionally hard on them, too.

Carlos doesn't know us on this chat but he knows many of the individuals on his u stream chat. They had picnics, visited his home and chatted with him daily. I don't believe he sees the blog as impersonal; its merely a way to communicate with Molly fans.

I agree, Linda, mostly because I was a believer the last time he shut down; I thought that it would be easy to hook up the cameras and not take such a possessive need to insure all working right, I would have been happy with hit & miss connections; but Carlos is more of a perfectionist than I. I also think it's a good thing to go through the process of trying for closure, as we have nothing at all to do with his decision. I absolutely think H/F and his SPO site is golden and a place we can all join in!!! Thanks Dale!!

Hello, my M & M friends. I so much understand the Royal's need to "get their life back". They started this process a couple yrs ago from pure love of Nature and a loving desire to help and understand the owls in their area. We are all so lucky that this site spread throughout the world; and lucky that the Royals could keep upgrading and maintaining all the equipment it took to keep such a large group happy, learning and seeing "the real thing".

But, I can't deny my sadness and tears that this will end soon. I want to believe that M & M are immortal and their much loved babies will prosper, finding mates, finding safe places to rear their own babies, and it will go on forever.

I've shared some of my life. I've prayed for and with many of you. That chain won't break as long as we keep it together. We love our owls and we love each other..physical strangers but emotional support that has done more good than we can measure.

Here's one of my thoughts.... Since I began this journey in March, 2010, I have seen myself as both one who is struggling and needs oh, so much support, but at other times I hope I'm one of those able to offer a bit of comfort in another's storm. My message, right now, mostly to those many, many solid rocks of you who are unwaveringly strong, thank you so much. But maybe, just maybe this site has shown some, as it has me, that even rocks need something, someone to crash on them to be used and changed, strengthened by the use, and come out on the other side better-crafted because of the wear. God bless us all, everyone.

Hi Sonny, I was concerned that you might have had a flooding problem from Irene after I saw the Trenton Train Station underwater. I've lived in the area and don't ever remembering that happening before. Glad you were able to get out, sorry everything was closed. We ventured out to Hopewell, NJ this afternoon and were met with many closed road signs on the way. Had to detour around for an hour to get to where we were going. Could have been worse, we didn't have much problem over here in New Hope; lost power for about 5 hours on Sunday but didn't lose any trees around the house. barb

Has anyone heard from Carolyn Joyce? I know there are still over 350,000 without power in NJ and they are working hard to get electricity, ice and water to those who haven't gotten their power yet. We drove over to Hopewell, NJ this afternoon, DH thought he had made a "date" with friends for a late lunch, NOT. 😊 We had to make so many detours because of downed trees and wires that it took us an hour and a half for a half-hour ride. They live in the woods, central New Jersey, and have been without power since Saturday and don't think they will have it back until Tuesday evening. They have a generator so they have all the necessities (except phone and internet) 😞 but the bubbly was cold and they have the well pump working; so it's more like camping. I'll try to find Carolyn's phone number and give her a call, if I hear anything I'll report back. BBL barb

This news made me so sad yesterday that I couldn't even put words together. It has been so wonderful to have them back, even without babies. In fact, it was very pleasant to have no worries about the little ones, but to just enjoy seeing Molly and McGee---something we could not do very much when there were babies. I completely "get it" that this has just been a gift to us. Somewhere deep inside I hoped that Carlos would just leave it on indefinitely because I hoped that he didn't have to work very hard at keeping it going. I am truly trying to be unselfish and see things from his point of view. No one said being unselfish was going to be easy! Alas, I survived the last cut off; I know I will survive this one. That doesn't mean I won't be sad, and missing something that has been a BIG part of my life for a long time now. It is a happy place!!!

I'm so sad too, Share...I hope you'll come visit at one of the other owl sites. I'm trying to just be grateful that we had this extra, unexpected time...I think it was at the beginning of the summer he said they would be traveling in a week or two...but they stayed and I'm so thankful! I enjoyed every minute with these two, my forever favorites...I love them so much....and now I'm starting to cry...even though I understand and am so grateful...it's so difficult for me. I'm sure they'll be traveling again soon...and I'll keep a little hope that he'll turn the cams back on since you never know with him. He's surprised us before.

Please don't just disappear...hope to see you.

Yes, I will watch the others---I love all of them, and even when I don't post, I read everything and care about everyone and pray for everyone---so we will all still be together. I (and all of us!) will just miss THIS one so much. Carlos seems like a good friend in some strange way! 😊 Stranger friends---isn't that what they say? Thanks for the nice responses. Sharon

I know how you feel... the first dosing hit me really hard... lots of tears.. you'd think it would be easier this time....I think a lot of it has to do with Austin leaving. Carlos was enjoying the trips to the hunting fields and the virtual parties and watching the owls come home and leave in the morning. Lot of things bad and good said about Carlos but no matter what he made you smile and feel good.. that's why we all kept coming back. Sure we watched other owls and eagles and other wonderful little mommy birds but what were they missing....Carlos. I sure hope he doesn't REALLY stay away forever. Just wish he would have said they had a trip planned or something.. it was just so abrupt. Glad for the experience but very very sad.

Hi all my MOD friends...Just wanted to say that tomorrow I'm packing up the car with my mother and dog and a few things and we are headed to Colorado...our home state. We've been in Phoenix for five years...we came here to be around my brother and his family, but they have not had anything to do with us for a very long time...so I want to go back to where I know someone and can get some help with my mom. It's been lonely for me here EXCEPT when I came to this site and chatted with all of you. You saved me so many times from despair and depression.

I love you all very much and hope this site stays up so we can talk...if not, then we will meet on the FaceBook group site or one of the other owl sites. I ask that you send your prayers that we have a safe and uneventful journey and can find a place to live and all that entailed moving...at least all our furniture and stuff is already there..I never brought it down here...

Anyway, God bless each and every one of you and thank you very much for your friendship...it means everything to me.
Love, Leslee

Hi friends! I don't post here very often but do check in every day to keep up with all of you! Carlos said the sites and Blog will remain active so I'm pretty confident he'll be back after some travels. Otherwise he'd not keep the sites open, in my opinion. I know how heart sick I and all of you were when he shut the cameras off last Oct. and then how happy we were when he did come back. It's been fun to see Molly and McGee spend so much time together in a way we hadn't seen before.

You'll still have this place to chat, just not M & M, but I do believe we'll see them again. I wish the best to all of you! 😊

Remember that there are two groups in Yahoo Groups for Molly and McGee lovers. Since they are yahoo based, they are email based. I use them to post things that are too long for chat, or are complicated. The beauty is that the messages wait for you. Here and in chat, if you aren't here, you don't see them. If you do join either chat, may I suggest that you receive your messages in Digest format? Instead of getting each message that each person sends you, they are sent to you in groups.

We also use the groups to announce the mini meet ups in different parts of the country, and to share the sites where people are chatting.

Go to Molly Blog at mollysbox.wordpress.com/blog/ where Carlos posts announcements about the owls, and other animals in his yard;. Go there and there will be a place where you can sign up for email updates. Last time the cameras were done, while they were traveling and doing whatever, Carlos used the Blog to tell us about the clutch M&M were dealing with at the time.

I have been here regularly, though not an active poster. I'm so sorry to see this cam leave. It's been lovely to read about everyone's lives as we witnessed the lives of Molly and McGee and there offspring. It has been educational, emotional, and interesting...not to mention fun. Maybe I'll read posts from lots of you on other wildlife sites. My sincere best wishes to all and I hope that the people on the East Coast are recovering from the effects of Hurricane Irene. I'm from the NJ Shore, but we were fortunate and had very little damage. There are lots of areas in NJ and all the other Eastern states that did not fare as well, and are suffering a lot. Bye, everyone...till we meet again at another wildlife webcam. Good Luck to all of you.

Good Morning everyone! Wow Once again, I hate hearing that things might be so final with Carlos..never know about him.. I am so grateful we were able to take in Mollys beauty for a short,, no a long while.. we have so many other sites that we could 'land' on,, hum which to choose, which to choose..it is here I feel most comfortable...and attached to the owls and the people that chose to stay here.Carlos is like a Will Rodgers on the radio theres always hope that Austin might choose to take us along on the ride for a final school project, I just dont want Molly & McGee to go away,, but the life of a barn owl isnt long, so to have the memory is a gift in itself well ive rambled on enuf.... just had to say something about my feelings..Its hot again today way into the 100's for about 2 weeks now,,,no wonder the owls stay in the palmz...Thanks for posting memory photos some I didnt have....

What a morning, besides getting up at 4:30. I talked my husband into going down to St. Marks Refuge for sunrise pictures. On the way down there we stopped on the main road (98) because we saw something little moving. We were in the middle of the road and saw a baby fawn. Oh my goodness he was scared. So my husband picked him up and put him in a storage tub we had in the truck then put it in the back seat and off we went. We volunteer at Florida Wild Mammal where they take injured animals and dropped him off there. Thank goodness the lady who lives there and runs the place gets up at 4:00 to feed the animals. So now I'll wait for her to call us and let us know how the little thing made out. That fawn was just a beautiful little thing. So we finally got down to the Refuge and took some beautiful shots of the sunrise and all the different birds down there. I just had to tell everyone. Now I rest.....lol. Have a beautiful day everyone.

 Good morning MODs. So much has happened within the last year and half that I'm just thankful we've had M&M and Royals this long. They will always have a special place in my heart and be thankful they brought us all together. I wish Carlos and his family continued success in their ventures. I suppose now Austin will be off to college and that may be why Carlos is shutting down the operation. It's a hard task to take on by oneself. For the rest of you MODs...I hope we can continue the tradition of watching other wildlife together.

Annie, we all are part of Syd and Mel's chat room. Now instead of posting on both sites, we will all be together on one site. Please serve us coffee over at Syd and Mel's.....we need our morning coffee group to stay together. Take care my friend.

Good morning Annie.
 I'm only here for a minute. I'm getting ready for work.
 I too shall miss this more then I'm willing to admit I think.
 But I had to chime in about the friendships that have been made. I wish Carlos and Donna all the best.
 I'll be over at Mel and Syd's for sure. I love it over there.
 Have a good day my friend. Hugs..
 oh, and of course, Thank YOU for the coffee. 😊

Well goodnight all you nice owl-watchers. I am off to bed, and yes, I am going to miss lurking here when those cameras come down. I hope sincerely that it won't be for good. We are going to be a bunch of very unhappy folks if that happens. When all is said and done, there is just no other pair of raptors that can hold a candle to our Molly and McGee. They are very special.

Darlene...I just think it's the same as what he's said before when he turned off the camera a couple times...there are things they want to do, like travel.

He actually gave us extra time to watch them this summer...he'd planned a trip that they put off...I was actually surprised we got to watch them for so long...but he stayed, I think to work with Austin on his project and that way he got to spend more time with him, too before he left for college. We are just so lucky he left it on far longer than we thought...we even got to see the 3rd clutch fledge and that was a nice surprise too.

I don't either....I am so, so sad...but every once in awhile I wondered why the cameras were still on...I think he said once or twice that they'd be leaving in a week or two....but they didn't...probably because of Austin.

Carlos has a couple of days yet to let us know more, this has just been such a gift I choose not to question the giver, as you say. I guess I've just become a believer of we'll see it when it happens, and until it does, it hasn't. Does that make sense?

After a half hour trying to get my avatar re-loaded on this old laptop, I'm reminded of why I quit posting, starting with a "hello" to all and all that jazz. I did want tolog on before Carlos shuts the cameras off and those who have only started a short time ago wonder what's so special about this. Many of us go back to the first clutch, March, 2010, and could (maybe should) play "remember when" for a couple days. Mine would start with something like, remember when we were all new, all worry-warts? Then things like this began to happen, and for me, that's when the magic started.

Good evening everyone!!! Well I am so glad everyone seems ok from "Irene" So many homes, so much destruction and it will take a long time to clean up. Thank God not many lives were lost, my heart goes out to the families that did lose a loved one.... Well, once again it looks like we only have a few days to view Molly & McGee.. It has been fun watching the little owlets hatch and grow and become a part of "creation". Just thinking about Ashley & Carrie, wow they sure were survivors! And how about silly Westy?? Well, I'm sure it will be another sad send off, yet life will go on. We will probably see them every night till the 31st and then hopefully it will start to cool down for Miss Molly. Blessings to all 😊

😞 So little warning he must have known what he was going to do . maybe Carlos has what he needs from the owl box but maybe a little more thought for others would have been nice. I live alone and have not left my house for ten years ( i am phobic ) so for me as I am sure many others the owl box has been a joy and filled a huge gap in my life. 😞 I hope I see Molly and McGee before the 28th , I wish I had a photo to remember them .

I imagine that M&M will come back to box to nest as they keep coming back every nite to claim as their own, so if he is going to shut the cameras off, I sure he keeps us posted somehow on how they are doing. I know they have worked hard to bring us M&M, but I can't help but feel let down abt the way he said that they were going to shut it down, there didn't seem to me much of an explanation or other coments that he could have made to all of us who have supported them. I hope I don't sound like sour grapes, but I do feel let down somehow.

I think he'll start broadcasting again, not just anymore this year. M & M have shown the last two months they are not going to have a second clutch this year. If they are back in Jan./Feb. with eggs, I think Carlos will turn the camera back on. Won't that be fun!! 😊

I've agonized the other times he turned off the cameras. The updates were great and then broadcasting started up again and it was positively brilliant! The abruptness of the announcement today "for the owl box to become a memory" was a bit like a dagger. However, he does very much enjoy broadcasting, so I do hope my kids will be back again next year when they begin to nest again. M&M are my absolute first loves, no matter how much I've tried to replace them. Mel & Sydney are a close second, and I miss them immensely. It's a bit of an ouch, since no one is nesting save Dale's kids - the camera just isn't as nice and I can't shut off the ads on that site only. I will deeply miss M&M and will send out love and affection in hopes of seeing them again soon.

If you will install Firefox on your computer, you do not have advertising down the right side at all. Much more enjoyable to me, no matter what the site.

I have the adware up and working - works perfectly everywhere but on Roy & Dale, where ads run every 15 minutes or so - real pain when the volume is on. I've tried tweaking and still cannot seem to prevent the commercials on that particular page. Thanks, though!

Many of us are sad...but we didn't know if we'd get to see them anymore after the other couple times he turned off the camera...it was a very nice surprise and we were so grateful to be able to see the 3rd clutch fledge and then to watch Molly and McGee in the box...it was like extra time with them that we didn't even know we'd have. He's been saying all along that they would be traveling on and off...so it's very sad but not totally unexpected...especially now with Austin away at college.

This chat isn't run by Carlos; leaving it up will be H/F's decision. But with no camera and other owl boxes, eagle nests and loons to watch I suspect this one will eventually dose down. Moving on doesn't mean saying goodbye.

I started to post, above, that I don't think he'll be off for good, but I just re-read the blog about the owl box needing to "become a memory." Hmmmm. Sounds pretty final. If Austin's college is paid for, perhaps there are no marketing goals, and personal lives to get on with. He started the owl box phenomenon, and may feel, too, that the other boxes can take over (I think he sincerely feels a dedication to the owls and their fans). "Never" seems like an awfully long time, though....

I'm thinking he's thinking he needs to get on with his life. He's 70 years old. Can you imagine being tied to home all the time by a pair of barn owls? Having said that though, he's been enjoying it as much or more than we have. You can always tell it by the sounds of his voice. Carlos is such a good person. We have made lasting life long friendships that I shall cherish forever.

I chat more over at Mel and Sydney's but I'm here a lot too. I'll miss them so much.

Carlos has said he would never turn the cameras on again and he has more than once. So who knows what's in store for us here. SPO will probably keep it going. They did before.

But it's going to be a sad day on the 31st that is for sure. I hope they come on and say good bye like they did last year. 😞😞

I believe that marketing for Austin is all this last round amounted to. He knew we would all come and purchase, just for old times sake, and that would help Austin. I don't think his heart is in it anymore, and that's OK. He has spent an incredible amount of time and resources on this endeavor, and at 70, or getting close to 70, He undoubtedly wants the rest of his life to not be tied down. I can relate. Molly will forever remain, my Main Owl. The blog will still be up, so maybe he will let us know if they stay around. It would be interesting to see how long this pair of owls occupy the box, or if they have babies again.

Good luck Carlos, Donna and Austin. We'll always love you and Molly and McGee and the beautiful owlets. 😊

HI, I live near Boston, and there are alot of power lines and telephones out. But the weather is not bad here now at all, the sun is out at the Cape, we have a gust of wind once in a while, and most of the rain is stopped. So don't worry about your Mom, as it has really died down. Most of charter customers are out, and many, many trucks for electric,etc. are everywhere, so again, don't worry.....my son lives in NJ and I am wondering how Wayne, NJ fared as he is on his way home there...do you know Molly? gubby,

Yes, Molly and McGee live here but they are between clutches so sometimes they come and spend the day in the box. It is still their home;. But today is very hot, possible into the high 80's or low 90's so this is probably going to be one of the day they prefer to stay outside in a nearby tree. Even when they are in the box, it is often just one of them

Good morning, friends. How's everyone? I read that Carolyn and her DH are trying to get water out of the basement...I and my family have had to do that...I know how exhausting it can be...hope you can take a break once in awhile. Take care.

Morning Lynn.....Yes my DH is still bailing....the water is still seeping in even though it is not raining for the last 2 hrs. It is still very windy though. The house next to us with the neglected overgrown Bradford pear trees...one of them pulled apart in many places and landed on a car. We are afraid the second might fall apart on our side. But things could have been far worse ...so we are not complaining. 😊

Yes MG...John is a trooper and a keeper....we are married 48 years and he is the best. Thank you for keeping us in your prayers. I hope your sinus trouble is better today. I use a non prescription nasal spray called Xclear Sinus Nasal Spray. It is a natural spray. Check with your doctor and see if you can use it. You can order it online or from a health food store. The ingredients are Purified water..Xylitol..Saline..and Grapefruit Seed Extract.

It is two Barn Owls. Female is named Molly. She has spotted chest. Other is McGee. He has snow white chest. It is the most addicting site I have ever seen. I am on it most of the day at the office even though they are usually sleeping. One or the other will be in shortly.

Hoping for some people checking in here this morning. Have had several at M&S and R&D check in already. Seems the worst is over for most of them. And now the storm is really only a tropical depression even tho still listed as a hurricane due to rain and storm surge, but winds are not even at 50 mph now. That's good news for the rest of the NE that still ha to get thru it. You're all in our thoughts....
